SENATE COMMITTEE COUNSEL CHARGES SENATE PROBE HAS POLITICAL ATMOSPHERE

Statement Brings Quick Reply From Weingartner In Senate

Senator Buckman Also Attacks Statement Of C. J. Hepburn

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 3.—Charging that the entire public service investigation is now surrounded by a "political atmosphere" C. J. Hepburn, counsel for the senate committee investigating the situation today recommended that the inquiry be conducted by a body, "freed from partisanship and in which the public would have faith."

To that end he suggested a committee to consist of the chairman of the senate judiciary general committee, the chairman of the house judiciary committee and three members representing the public to be appointed by the superior court.

Proposes Limitation.

He also proposed that the senate committee confine its future activity to an inquiry into the rate structure of those companies which Governor Gifford Pinchot has charged with earning excessive returns. Adoption of his suggestion, Hepburn said, would remove the whole matter from the field of partisan conflict.

Hepburn's statement brought to the surface the first definite signs of the disagreement among members of the board of managers.

Senator Buckman, Pinchot floor leader in the senate, was immediately on his feet, terming the Hepburn statement a "political trade" and asserting that to read it to the committee was "presumptuous." He rallied to the defense of the governor, placing the blame for the present impasse on the shoulders of the committee's counsel rather than the executive.

Weingartner Speaks.

In reply to Buckman, Hepburn said his charges were justified because of the insults which the governor had hurled at the committee and therefore at him as its counsel.

PA NEWS OBSERVES

Governor Pinchot has asked that Pennsylvania Day, March 4, be appropriately observed in the schools of Pennsylvania. Some special programs will probably be presented in some of the local schools.

Council's idea of issuing $100,000 in bonds to do city improvement work this summer, sounds right to Pa News. Now is the time that the work can be done most economically, and now is the time when the work is needed.

New Castle Water Company's announcement that new mains are to be extended to the Sheep Hill district, is an announcement that spells progress. Not only will it provide modern service for a large area on the hills, but it will also provide considerable employment for workmen in this district. During the drought of the past year, this hill-top district was about the first to feel the effect of dry wells and springs.

Four weeks from next Sunday is Easter Sunday.

By the way—two weeks from today will be St. Patrick's Day. Better look around for a bright green tie!

There are some who say Spring is already here, but the calendar insists that it comes in two weeks from next Saturday—March 21.

We copped all their expressions; week-end, fortnight, plus fours. We are now adopting the street busses that has been our source of amusement over there. We will cop their monicyle yet, if they don't watch us.

Bernard Shaw had us right in the papers this morning: "We do things well when somebody shows us how." But with all our monkey traits we are kicking along pretty good.

Father, Mother And Three Children Burned To Death In Mining Town

ONE YOUNG GIRL JUMPS TO SAFETY

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 3.—Trapped in their beds by raging flames, a mother, father, and three children were burned to death today when fire destroyed their home at Mine No. 1, Russellton, near here.

Another child saved her life by jumping from a second story window, sustaining a fractured left leg.

The fire was believed to have originated from an overheated stove. When firemen from West Deer township and Culmerville arrived, the house was a mass of flames.

Firemen did not recover the bodies until shortly after daybreak, more than three hours after the blaze originated.

School Building Burns To Ground Near Greensburg

Small School At Hecla, Pa., Is In Ruins As Result Of Fire

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., Mar. 3.—Smoldering ruins today alone remained to mark the site of the Hecla grade school at Hecla, near here, which was razed by fire last night with loss estimated at $4500.

Origin of the fire which swept through the two story frame building was undetermined. The fire, it was said, apparently originated on the second floor.

Fire companies from Greensburg and Mount Pleasant responded. Traffic on the West Penn Railways company was delayed by hose stretched across the tracks.

The firemen were successful in staying off danger of the new grade school building, adjoining that which was destroyed, catching fire from flaming embers carried by the brisk wind.

Congress Begins Cleaning Up For Adjournment Day

House And Senate Clearing Decks Ready For Final Session Wednesday

SENATE IS HELD NEARLY ALL NIGHT

LaFollette Tries To Rush Vestal Copyright Bill Through Senate

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—The Seventy-first Congress, expiring by constitutional edict at noon tomorrow, entered a virtual death coma today while angry factions battled vainly in the Senate to enact favored legislation in its dying hours.

The House was calm, passing non-controversial measures and airing political views, but the Senate staged a furious struggle to get several important bills enacted before adjournment. The Senate began its next to last session, with senators tired and sleepy following a preceding sixteen-hour session that lasted until the wee hours of this morning.

All-Night Session Fails

An all-night session was attempted by administration leaders, spurred on by the youthful "Bob" LaFollette, (R) of Wis., in an effort to secure passage of the vestal copyright bill. It lasted until 3 a. m. when opponents of the measure cried out against "steamroller methods" and protested against the bill being "railroaded" through the body.

The Senate faced a tumultuous finale with sponsors of four important bills battling each other to get their measures enacted.

Aside from the copyright bill, advocates of a bill slashing immigration quotas by ninety percent for two years, of the Capper oil embargo bill and of a proposal to appropriate $100,000,000 for unemployment relief, all were insisting upon action on their favorite measures. It was entirely likely that all four bills would be killed in the struggle.

Reed Aroused

On one occasion, early this morning, Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania sought to substitute the immigration bill for the copyright act. He lost by a lopsided vote and under a ruling by Vice President Curtis, likewise lost a privileged spot previously held by the bill. He thereupon threatened to have Curtis' ruling reversed by the Senate, in (Continued On Page Two)

Theatre Wrecked In Youngstown

Girl Loses Her Voice From Shock—Others Receive Minor Cuts

ARSON RING IS HELD TO BLAME

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Mar. 3.—A terrific explosion, followed by fire, ripped through the Lincoln theatre, a neighborhood movie house here, early today and resulted in injuries to at least a score of persons and fire damages estimated at approximately $30,000.

One girl, Rose Vitullo, 24, was reported to have lost her voice from the shock of the blast. Other persons who were at the scene when the explosion let loose, received only minor hurts.

The force of the blast hurled the ticket booth of the theatre across the street, witnesses said. Persons living in the immediate vicinity of the theatre were thrown from their beds.

Firemen blamed the explosion upon an arson gang which is believed to be responsible for numerous blazes in the city recently. Harry Calla, fire chief, declared that both gasoline and ether were used in setting off the blast at the theatre today.

REPORT GRANTS RIGHT OF J. J. DAVIS TO SEAT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Doubt regarding the right of Senator James J. Davis (R) of Pennsylvania, to his seat was virtually dissipated today when the long awaited report of the Nye senatorial campaign investigation committee, on the Pennsylvania primary and election campaigns, was made to the senate. The junior senator of the Keystone State was absolved of all charges of corruption, but the majority declared the ticket headed by the former Labor Secretary had involved excessive expenditures.

Senator Patterson (R) of Missouri, filed a minority report. The report, signed by Chairman Nye (R) of North Dakota and Senators Dale (R) of Vermont; Dill (D) of Washington, and Wagner (D) of New York, placed the total expenditures spent for the Davis-Brown ticket in the primary and election campaigns, at $1,117,649.29. In the primary campaign alone, the Davis-Brown ticket spent $622,928.39, the majority found.

The report was changed at the last minute from the original draft which had been unexpectedly held up for two days.

Patterson in his report incorporated in his conclusions parts left out of the final draft of the majority report.

Davis was "lawfully chosen and elected," and there was no evidence before the committee which could in any manner affect the qualification of the ticket.

County Centenarian Declares Prohibition Godsend To Country

James McCormick, Of Eastern Lawrence County Nears Century Of Life

HAS NO ADVICE ON HOW TO LIVE LONG

Says Auto Traffic Of Today Demands Effective Prohibition In Nation

He's a genial old gentleman, this centenarian about whom I'd like to talk to you for a little while—venerable looking, a kindly face framed in a wealth of white whiskers, giving him the appearance of being the grandfather of all humanity.

McCormick is the name, James McCormick, and on February 2nd he was 99 years of age. But for all his years he retains his sense of humor—perhaps one can't live to be nearly 100 without a sense of humor—and his conversation sparkles with Irish colloquialisms, flavored with the brogue of Erin's isle.

Born In Derry

Mr. McCormick, who resides on the Perry highway near Grant City, is not a native born American. His birthplace is Derry, Ulster, Ireland, but he has been a resident of Lawrence county since 1866, which certainly gives him the right to be called an old-timer. But for all his residence in the United States he has not lost entirely that delightful brogue which marks your Scotch-Irishman, nor has age dimmed any of the soundness of his logic.

Leaving Ireland as a young married man with four children, Mr. McCormick brought his wife to Lawrence county, settling on a farm. For many years he was a coal miner, but 55 years ago he turned to the farm upon which he now lives. Fifteen children were born to Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, of which nine are alive.

There is something refreshing in the old gentleman's view. The burden of years has not turned him cynic, nor does he believe that his unusual age qualifies him to counsel the world. He's just a genial old gentleman who has enjoyed life and expects to keep on living for quite a while and hopes everybody else is doing the same.

Road Too Close

"You have a nice highway in front of your home, Mr. McCormick."

"Yes, but they came almost too close. They dug almost up to the front door and left us on a hill. But it's a fine highway for all that."

"How many grandchildren and great-grandchildren have you by now?"

"Chuckling into his flowing white beard, he replied, 'my goodness, I can't keep track of them all. There must be over one hundred by now.'"

"You've seen some changes in the county since you came, haven't you?"

Widow To Tell Of Bridge Shooting

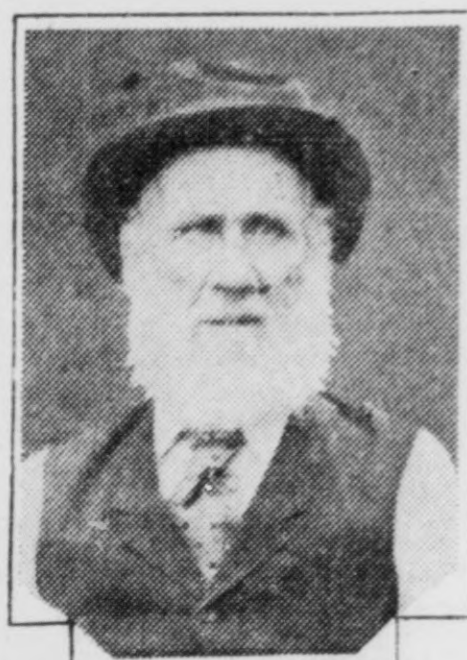

Mrs. Myrtle Bennett To Go On Stand In Kansas City Case

STORY OF LIFE TO BE TOLD TO JURY

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Mar. 3.—Mrs. Myrtle A. Bennett will take the witness stand in her own behalf today to tell the story of her life with John G. Bennett, whom she shot and killed during a quarrel over a bridge game, the events leading up to the tragedy and possibly her reason for causing his death.

That the comely widow, who sobbed hysterically yesterday when her mother, Mrs. Alice Adkins, told from the witness stand that her son-in-law was a kind, considerate and loving couple, would testify today was assured by J. Francis O'Sullivan of defense counsel.

Throughout the trial, which enters its eighth day today, Mrs. Bennett exhibited an apparent apprehensiveness of the moment when she should tell her story to the jury within earshot of the craning audience of curious, some of whom literally fought their way into the courtroom.

Governor's Wife Makes Attack On Commission

Mrs. Pinchot Digresses From Report Of Ex-ploration During Speech Here

ASKS SUPPORT OF CITY FOR GOVERNOR

Remarks Before Woman's Club Take Rather Surprising Turn

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Governor of Pennsylvania, was the guests speaker at the Monday afternoon meeting of the Women's club and the afternoon meeting was preceded by a luncheon in the Castleton, at which places were arranged for thirty women.

An imposing sight greeted the eye of the governor's wife as she alighted at the Highland United Presbyterian church for her afternoon address. As Mrs. Pinchot stepped from her car, she walked through an aisle formed by sixty uniformed Girl Scouts of the city, who stood at attention while she passed through and entered the church door.

The Sunday school room of the church was filled with members of the club and guests and the meeting was opened by Mrs. A. B. Street, president of the Women's Club after which Mrs. F. C. Brennen, chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Pinchot Speaks
Mrs. Pinchot in opening her talk said half the fun of going on a trip was the boasting of it afterward, but before taking the audience on her South Sea trip, she took them to Harrisburg first for a short insight into what Governor Pinchot is trying to bring into his administration.

Public Hearing On Open Sunday

State Legislature To Hear Arguments On Measure March 17

LIVELY BATTLE ON MEASURE LOOMS

(From News Bureau)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 3.—Proponents of the open Sunday in Pennsylvania are to have their day in court. On March 17th, a public hearing will be held by the House Law and Order Committee at which time the proponents and opponents of the pending legislation will be given opportunity to air their views.

For many years bills have been introduced into the Pennsylvania General Assembly designed to modify the so-called "Blue Laws" of Pennsylvania. As regularly as they were presented they were killed in committee. This year the demand for a public hearing was so insistent that Chairman Harry Himes of Armstrong County granted such a hearing and March 17th will see hundreds of citizens who wish to make their views known at the hearing.

The machine was being driven by Eugene Stafford, 30, a Negro, when a traffic policeman recognized it. Stafford said he had borrowed the car from his boss, a man named Zena, last night. The automobile bore the license tag 9N-88-19.

ALLEGED DRUNKEN DRIVERS INDICTED

In indictments returned by the grand jury this morning 22 true bills were found against A. S. Guyer, charged with violation of the securities act. It is claimed that Guyer was a stock salesman for a corporation known as the Atlantic Drug and Chemical Company, and that he sold stock to the 22 persons who brought the charges. It is further contended that Guyer was not registered as a salesman by the Pennsylvania Securities Commission, and that the Atlantic Drug and Chemical Company was not registered, as required by the act.

In addition to the above A. S. Guyer was indicted jointly with J. Ritchie in connection with the stock sales and a separate indictment was also returned against J. Ritchie, another salesman. The stock of the Atlantic Drug and Chemical Company is said to have been largely distributed in Western Pennsylvania.

True bills were also found against Mary Toth, Helen Smith, and Elizabeth Ross, on charges of prostitution.

Lewis Ritchie and R. J. Waddington were indicted on separate charges of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor.

The rich Widow Green owned a number of houses in a county other than the one in which she resided. Representing her in that county was a man who collected the rentals, leased vacant houses and in general attended to the affairs of her property.

Some street work was done in the neighborhood, the cost of which, under the law, was to be charged to the owners of the abutting houses. Notice was sent to the agent as though he were the owner of the property, requesting him to pay his share. He appeared before the committee to protest, but was told that suit would be filed if he did not pay.

The agent had a notion that he was not liable under the law, so to put matters off he agreed to sign three notes for the amount of the street costs.

But when it came time to pay those notes he refused to do so. The county attorney then filed suit.

Eagles Lodges File Petitions

Erie And Charlevoix Lodges Join
Others In Filing Restraining
Petitions

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 3.—Joining with other Western Pennsylvania lodges of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, petitions by the Erie and Charlevoix lodges asking federal court to quash search warrants used by prohibition agents in raids and requesting that evidence be suppressed because of alleged unlawful entry were on file here today.

The agents gained entrance to the premises by misrepresenting themselves to be members of the organization, the petitions of the Erie and Charlevoix lodges allege.

The newest petitions follow closely those previously filed which resulted in the court granting injunctions on U. S. Attorney Graham to show cause why the warrants should not be quashed.

The Charlevoix petition avers the agents used fictitious names and produced cards indicating they were members in good standing. The Erie petition charges the agents claimed to be members of the Homestead lodge and showed purported receipts for dues. Later, the petitions charge, the agents returned with search warrants which the lodges contend were illegal in that grounds for search warrants must be based upon facts legally secured.

SENATE COMMITTEE COUNSEL CHARGES SENATE PROBE

also asked that he be recorded as opposed to the thought of the Hepburn statement.

In telling why he objected to it, Weingartner started to relate some of the details of the first meeting of the senate judiciary general committee when the board of managers was appointed.

Senator Earnest interrupted him, asking if he intended to make the details of the committee meeting a public record.

Weingartner said that was not his intention but he wanted the reason for his present stand to be clear to everyone.

Six Companies Named.
Hepburn's statement also made public for the first time the names of the six companies which Gov. Pinchot, yesterday charged with earning excessive rates.

W. A. Gray, Pinchot counsel, had obtained them from the governor and in turn furnished them to the committee.

The companies and their return rates for 1929 are:

Abington Electric 28.5
Edison Light and Power 34.18
Hershey Electric 33.75
Portage Electric 45.4
Cresson Electric 51.8
Natrona Light 69.65

Attaches of the commission furnished the committee with the annual reports of the companies not only for 1929 but also 1930. Officers of each of the companies will be asked to appear as witnesses tomorrow to explain the high rates of return.

Gray Replies
Arriving late, W. A. Gray, the governor's representative, did not reply to the Hepburn charges until near the close of the morning session. Then he swung into a verbal barrage, blaming Hepburn and the committee for failing to give him the co-operation he should have had.

Gray told of his own efforts to co-operate with the committee and of his having obtained from Governor Pinchot the names of the six companies which the executive charged with having earned unfair returns.

The committee also had asked him to obtain from the governor the names of the professional lobbyists whom he blamed with being active in behalf of the candidacy of Senator Augustus F. Daix for president pro tempore. To that query the governor replied:

"The senators know more about 'them than I do."

One of the things which Gray suggested the committee continue to probe was the actual truth of many P. R. T. problems of management and finance which so far have been only touched upon lightly. In that category he included a careful examination of P. R. T. financial records during the past decade, the exact terms of miltien management contracts and also the bank books of Coleman T. Joyce in the years in which he denied receiving as much money as P. R. T. records show. Whether or not the committee has the time and money for such a program, Gray said he did not know.

Hear Major Vale
With the exception of the time consumed by wrangles of counsel the major portion of the morning session was devoted to hearing testimony of Major E. M. Vale, formerly chief of the bureau of public convenience of the public service commission.

The committee also called B. Frank Morgal, chief of the bureau of accounts in the commission, to the stand and instructed him to prepare a summary of the annual reports of the companies named by the governor.

After a considerable debate among committee members it was agreed that the actual value of the company's plants should be considered in arriving at any rate of profit return.

Senator Frank Baldwin, Potter, warned counsel that the committee had more important questions to consume its time than listening to the airing of personal differences regarding proper procedure.

The committee will not hold an afternoon session, but will resume its investigation tomorrow morning. It was decided to ask Coleman Joyce, P. R. T. counsel, to again appear before the committee and also former Congressman John A. Farr, Scranton, now a registration commissioner. Farr in campaign speeches for Governor Pinchot last fall asserted that he had been told by a New York banker that the public service commission had decided the Scranton-Springbrook Water Company was entitled to an increase in rates, but would not announce the decision until after the November election.

Regarding the contention in Davis' behalf that the majority report said he was chargeable with only a small percent on the committee did not "feel called upon to attempt the impossible task of determining the amount of expenditures to be allocated to each individual candidate."

"There were seven candidates on the Davis-Brown ticket."

"In any event," the report said, "your committee does not regard it material whether an excessive expenditure is made on behalf of a single candidate or a ticket comprising numerous candidates."

ASTRONOMICAL INFLUENCES
CLIMATE

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.

Climate is a term used with reference to large areas of the earth's surface, and long periods of time. As planetary winds move from west to east, countries lying along eastern shores of oceans always possess milder climates than those lying along their western shores. Because the earth is tilted over 23½ degrees to the plane of the ecliptic—plane in which the earth travels around the sun—it produces a constant change in the presentation of any given area of the earth's surface to the rays of the sun—a change to six months, June 21 to December 21, of 47 degrees. This change of the earth's latitude to the direct rays of the sun gives greater extremes of temperature to climate areas remote from the equator.

Sunday opening legislation are such men as Mayor Harry A. Mackey of Philadelphia, and Councilman W. W. Roper of Philadelphia, better known as the coach of the Princeton football team. Two years ago Mayor Mackey made a vehement address in which he urged the retention of the Blue Laws and pledged his support to keeping them on the books. This year he will appear urging that the laws be modified. Just what has brought about his change of front is not known.

Liquor Bills Buried
Liquor legislation in this session seems absolutely impossible. All bills having for their purpose the repeal of the Snyder-Armstrong Act have been picked in committee which means that they are dead. There are a few other bills which propose to modify existing laws, and these will undoubtedly be given the same treatment.

If there was any doubt about the temper of the present session concerning liquor laws, the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court has settled it. The middle of the road members are now convinced that there is no use in tampering with the existing laws, and the present session will undoubtedly close with the prohibition laws in the same shape as they are now.

The House also held a night session, lasting until 11 p. m., but it was peaceful. Scores of bills, minor in character, were passed, with but little debate and no controversies.

There were different scenes in the Senate during the night, until senators became too sleepy for arguments. Earlier in the evening, administration leaders sought in vain to keep the proceedings peaceful but their efforts were ignored. Finally, after midnight, foes of the Copyright bill began forcing roll calls on motions to recess and kept senators from sleeping, in cloak-rooms by quorum calls until all patience was exhausted and the Senate quit.

This came at 2:55 a. m. after nearly sixteen hours continuous session.

FIND NEW CLUES IN SLAYING OF VIVIAN GORDON

of the murder mystery which has developed into a sensation in New York.

The authorities were examining every notation in Miss Gordon's six-page diary which contains a multitude of names, intimate confidences and startling disclosures. In the diary, the slain beauty wrote of an ever-growing fear that she would be murdered.

Had Premonition
New York, Mar. 3.—Out of the maze of conflicting clues and bizarre theories surrounding the strangling of Vivian Gordon, Broadway butterfly and prospective witness against woman—"framing" vice squad cops, there emerged today the sinister fact that the beautiful, red-haired "girl about town" had a premonition she was to be "knocked off."

"Knocked off" were the words she employed in writing down in her diary her growing fear that she was to meet an untimely death. On one occasion she wrote:

".....(Giving a man's name) is supposed to have said, 'We'll take her out somewhere. No one will know what has happened to her. Missing, especially that ring, meaning the $2,500 ring I wear.'"

On February 13, 1929, she made the following notation:

".....(Giving a man's name) refused to pay doctor's bill. If anything happens to me he is to blame. He has henchmen."

And again she wrote:

".....(Naming a man) is the one who was to have knocked me off last winter. I guess (three initials) is seeking his services for that deed. (Three initials) would stoop to anything."

Nearer Solution
The new excerpts from Miss Gordon's diary were made public by District Attorney Charles B. McLaughlin who announced "We are nearer a solution of this case than we were twenty four hours ago."

Other developments in the Gordon murder mystery were as follows:

1.—Two men in evening dress were in the "murder car" with Miss Gordon on the night she was slain, according to the story told District Attorney McLaughlin by Mrs. Leonora Lasky, a Cuban, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., who held a part-time job as maid for a woman she believed was Miss Gordon.

Mrs. Lasky told of being in the automobile with Miss Gordon and the two men a few hours before the crime was committed.

2.—Mrs. Cassie Clayton, of Erie, Pa., former chum of Miss Gordon, testified before Referee Samuel Seabury, head of the current inquiry in the alleged "framing" of women vice squad policemen and detectives. Mrs. Clayton is said to have revealed many details of Miss Gordon's glamorous past and to have connected the slain woman with the Arnold Rothstein gambling ring.

3.—The police were investigating a bizarre story to the effect that Miss Gordon took an active part in a "Love Racket" in which she is alleged to have "cleaned up" thousands of dollars.

She is reported to have had a list containing the names, telephone numbers and descriptions of forty attractive girls who cooperated in making "suckers" out of their gentlemen friends.

The clew regarding the two men in evening dress given by Mrs. Halsey was regarded as important by the police and they were checking it closely this morning.

On the night of the murder, February 18, Mrs. Halsey said she met Miss Gordon—or Mrs. Biddle as she knew her—at 45th street and Broadway, about midnight. Miss Gordon offered to drive Mrs. Halsey to her home in Mount Vernon.

Two men in evening dress were in the car besides Miss Gordon, according to Mrs. Halsey. After the car was driven to the Halsey home, Miss Gordon told her the three of them were going to a road house to dine. The automobile was then headed toward New York.

Miss Gordon was stung with a clothesline and her body tossed into Van Cortlandt Park about 2:30 in the morning. The route of the car from Mount Vernon would have taken it past the park.

Mrs. Halsey said she was confident she would recognize the two men if she were to see them again. She described both of them as very dark-complexioned.

Cassie Clayton's story was less dramatic. However, she is said to have told the authorities of a $250,000 floating crap game that Miss Gordon had informed her was operated in various hotels adjacent to the Broadway theatrical district.

Vivian, it is understood, knew the detectives who accepted "graffiti" as the "pay off men."

The importance of Mrs. Clayton's story rested largely on the fact she had the "Dear Cassie" letter in which Miss Gordon triumphantly forecast revenge for what she claimed was the "framing" to which she had been subjected in 1923.

The House also held a night session, lasting until 11 p. m., but it was peaceful. Scores of bills, minor in character, were passed, with but little debate and no controversies.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 3.—After passing ten bills finally in a short, hurried session the Senate today recessed until 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Bills passed and sent to the house included that of Senator Howell, Lackawanna, amending the present public service law and requiring the approval of the commission before increased rates could become effective.

The Woodward bill proposing a constitutional amendment to abolish a dual system of city and county offices in Philadelphia was held over, although it had been listed for final action.

Measures passed on second reading included one by Rep. Sterling, Philadelphia, which would increase the emergency borrowing power of that city to $8,000,000.

TRAINING FOR PARENTHOOD

EDUCATORS discussing the causes of crime, at the recent Detroit sessions came to the conclusion that most of it is due to the fact that there has not been sufficient, if any, training for the important profession of parenthood. William McAndrew, former Superintendent of Schools of Chicago, addressing the National Education Association, gave a few facts to prove that it is the parents rather than the children who are chiefly responsible for the present age of jazz and gin. He declared that marriages were taking place in this country at the rate of a million a year, and that most of the participants in this great adventure were as unprepared for it as the nation always has been for entering each of its great wars. He said:

"We make entrance into our army compulsory and require our soldiers to go through the stiffest kind of training. For creating and developing human life we let our 2,000,000 experimenters blunder blithely along and we pay $13,000,000,000 a year to combat crime, most of which is due to bad marriages, broken homes and faulty family training. Public education was established in America for good citizenship, general welfare and national happiness. All reports show a wave of desire to learn how to run better homes and rear better children. The schools are beginning to teach prospective brides and grooms, married men and women, mothers and fathers an intelligent and effective wedded life, conduct of a home and training of citizens. Science, patriotism and bitter experience conspire to make this service rank higher than any the schools now render."

We have in these words what may possibly be the cure for the ills which are apparent in certain sections of our national life. Perhaps if we gave more attention to church and school we would not have to lean so heavily on the reports of crime commissions. As has been well said, the echoes of the Liberty Bell can only be prolonged by the sound of the church and school bells.

WHY NOT USE BOTH HANDS

The scientist who says that to force a child to use the right hand when it prefers to use the left is a mistake takes a sensible view of a much debated question. It has often been argued that righthandedness does not come by nature, but is the result of repressive training. This is a rather sweeping statement. There are those who are righthanded by instinct and those who are lefthanded by instinct. Probably the former are in the majority. A certain amount of awkwardness is involved in the use of the left hand when the right is normally employed. In the matter of penmanship, for example, everything points to the right hand as the most convenient. The natural position of the body is such that the use of the left in this instance is a distinct disadvantage. But in most functions the discrimination seems to be based upon prejudice rather than upon reason.

The ability to use either hand indifferently is not to be despised. It saves a good deal of waste motion. Even in delicate work, such as painting or drafting, many have this ability, native or cultivated. Social usage has assigned the knife to the right hand and the fork to the left; it is not pleasing to see the order reversed. But there is no good reason why one should not lift a glass with the left hand, if it happens to be more convenient. Again in performing any kind of manual labor, the use of both hands tends to ease and efficiency.

On the whole, this insistence that children shall always use the right hand is probably a mistake. It practically means that one-half of the body is developed at the expense of the other. Since nature gave us two hands, it is fair to assume that she did not mean us to get along with only one.

VIEWPOINTS OF TWO DEMOCRATS

John W. Davis, candidate of the Democratic party for president in 1924, has been talking away down in New Orleans. He feels sure that the Democrats will have a wet plank in their platform next year and a wet presidential candidate to stand upon it. His prediction is that a Democrat opposed to prohibition will be the next occupant of the white house. It might be suggested incidentally that Mr. Davis is not much of a predictor. He predicted his own election back there in 1924 and Coolidge swept the country.

Now listen to another Democrat. McKellar of Tennessee, talking in the senate. "Unless the Democrats have made a mistake in their platform it is a foregone conclusion that we will win in 1932." And the mistake? Oh! If the wet side had its way it would drag the party down to ruin. What would save it? Why, a resolution declaring that "no political party can endure by flouting any law; accordingly we favor strict enforcement of all laws and constitutional provisions."

Evidently a case where a Democrat may pay his money and take his choice.

Here's a Funny One.

The question of property rights between husband and wife is one of the domestic questions which has never been answered to the satisfaction of the parties concerned. Has a wife a right to steam open a husband's letter? Has a husband the right to read the letters that are directed to his wife? The marriage ritual does not touch upon this important question and decisions by learned courts carry no weight. Evidently, Mary's ideas on the subject do not coincide with John's. When John came home, he found Mary bathed in tears. "What's the trouble, dear?" he asked. "Your mother insulted me horribly," sobbed Mary. "She handed him a letter. 'Insulted you! How's that?' asked John, as he held his pencil into flap of the envelope, ripped it open, took out the letter and began reading. Mary did not reply. The flood-gates in her eyes opened again. John continued reading. He reached the affectionate closing. Beneath the signature "Mother" was the postscript, without which no letter from home is complete. "Dear Mary," it read, "don't forget to give this letter to John."

This poem appeared in the Washington Star so long ago that I believe its own author has forgotten that he wrote it. And if it was not written by that fine poet, Philander Johnson, I lose my bet. But it's too good to be forgotten and no doubt many readers will be glad to see it reprinted.

It sho'ly helps my feelin's when my mind is gettin' vexed.

It All Depends
A little experience often upsets a lot of theory.

A woman spent a great deal of her leisure time campaigning against capital punishment. She never let an opportunity pass to sign a petition, appealing to a governor for the commutation of the sentence of a murderer.

She became a great admirer of a noted lawyer, famous because he defended two notorious murderers, and when this lawyer visited her city she arranged for an introduction in order that she might compliment him.

A few days after she had met this lawyer, and was still under the spell of his personality, her son, a young man of twenty-two, just out of college, was held up, beaten and robbed by a couple of thugs.

Instantly her views toward capital punishment changed. She favored hanging, quartering and boiling in oil for the assassins.

What an appeal the simple life makes to us the "morning after."

"Well, supposin' I keep her for what you owe me?"

"Not by a jugful! Tell you what I'll do though—keep her two weeks more'n you can have her."

A LIST OF THRILLING THINGS

There are things in this world that give you joy, that thrill you in memory, in anticipation, that make you smile sometimes at the thought of what a child you were—what a child you still are. You run them over in your thoughts and you don't care if you ARE a child, and you hope you never do grow all the way up. You remember such things as:

The first time you ever saw an elephant or the sudden sea, foaming and shouting against a rock shore.

Scotch pipers marching along, their kilts swaying this way and that, the drummer booming away, the pipes shrilling and tearing into your ear drums—more primitive than any music on earth.

That day you came home from France, after the war, and heard civilians talking English; and the day they let you out of the army at last.

The time you got arrested for something or other, like riding on the sidewalk with your bicycle and had to go down to the court and the judge looked at you severely and scolded you and finally said he'd let you go this time—your heart leaped with relief!

A tree you saw in France in the dead of winter, on Christmas Eve, all decorated with frosty snow, still against the black night sky, with no guns roaring and no red flares anywhere on the horizon of the war.

A little girl standing in the restaurant, fascinated, her eyes almost popping, listening to an orchestra for the first time, suddenly running back to her mother, shouting, "I saw a man MAKING MUSIC!"

A blackbird with a red splash on his wing, flying overhead in a field near Monterey bay; sea lions barking and leaping on a rock in that same bay.

When you thought you were mysteriously ill and began to think serious thoughts about death—and you went to a doctor—and he laughed at you.

The soft, sweet, back-of-a-baby's neck.

The first time you drove an automobile all by yourself and, far more exciting, the first dog you ever owned and the first time you ever rode a horse—and that time a little girl you'd been mooning about sent you word by another little girl that she LIKED you. (How on earth did she know you liked HER?)

A still, perfect lake in the highest Sierras, with its colors changing all day long, all day long. And shadows from white clouds flying across a green meadow.

And many, many other things that give you pleasure to remember.

WINDFALLS

The wind came up and it shook the tree.
Said an apple plump: "It's too rough for me!"
Though I've clung for weeks to this topmost bough
It seems I am due for a tumble now!"

And a sound heart whispered: "Just hang on!"
But the weakling apple to earth had gone.

And all night long with moan and sigh
The windfalls dropped from the branches high.
"Hang on! Hang on!" cried a stout winesap,
But a gust would come and a twig would snap

And the farmer said as he viewed the fall:
"Some apples can't weather a summer squall."

"They looked all right when the wind was still,
Now they're merely food for the cider mill.
For the only fruit that the stores will take
Is the kind that sticks when the branches shake.

But you can't know the sound hearts from the frail
Till the morning after an autumn gale."

Pennsylvania Line Credited With Leadership In Revival

Many Millions To Be Spent On Improvements In Short Period Believed To Be Example To Industry And To Show Utilization Of Low Costs

Attention of the country is attracted by the announcement from the Pennsylvania Railroad system that it will at once undertake and speed up its $175,000,000 improvement program, completing the work in a little more than two years, instead of the four-year period originally projected. This is taken as an example to industrial concerns, because of the low cost of materials and the energy that is expected from labor seeking employment. The advantage of putting money in circulation is observed.

Gen. Atterbury, as head of this transportation company, is commended by the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH, because he "confirms words by actions" and "his faith is justified by work." The paper hails "the best item of industrial news in a month," and adds the comment: "Aside from the fact that the expansions contemplated will provide work for thousands of men and will have ramifications in many lines of trade, the very fact that the greatest railroad system in the country is to be enlarged to accommodate the increased traffic which the management sees ahead serves to restore confidence in the future to less courageous souls. The announcement is well timed. It will have a good effect on prices. It will encourage railroad people to go to market, it will stimulate the steel business, it will give hard pressed labor reason for encouragement, it is a good thing for the country."

"Such improvement plans," in the opinion of the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, "reveal the confidence that the railroads have in the future. They strongly remind one of similar programs pursued by the carriers ever since the war. Indeed railroad history during the past ten years has consisted not only of new records in the transportation of freight but also of new heights of efficiency and economy of operation attained during this period largely by reason of the improvement programs. The railroads now are building for the future. Their executives know not only by reason of their own seasoned judgment but also by profitable past experience that the country will require the transportation facilities which they are now expanding and improving."

"Wide-awake corporations," it is pointed out by the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, "know that the present low interest rates and prices for materials enable them to build at a minimum of trouble and cost." Referring to the Pennsylvania road's "determination to complete its program of electrification, terminal reconstruction and related improvements within two years," that paper emphatically says the sentiment of President Hoover that "within the next 30 days about 450,000 workers will be employed on new government construction," and concludes: "The federal and state commissions on unemployment now are urging the less alert public and private agencies, to take advantage of existing exceptionally favorable conditions in the field of construction to start or accelerate their respective improvement programs. The advice is sensible and valuable, since labor is abundant, interest rates are low and materials are cheap. There never was a better time than the present for planning and pushing construction projects intrinsically sound. And there is no better way than that to stimulate industry and hasten the return of normal prosperity."

The Pennsylvania attitude is regarded by the ST. LOUIS TIMES as "a business proposition and not merely a gesture, altruistic." That paper continues: "They have been looking into prices and find that, at present figures, they can get more for their money. They propose to take advantage of bargains. If this is true of railroads, it will, I found true of every activity." The NEWARK EVENING NEWS advises that "a wider acceptance of this view by business and industrial leaders would be helpful." The BALTIMORE SUN believes that "the confidence displayed in the future of the railroad industry should serve as a tonic to other carriers," and that "the general tone of the statement is a challenge to business leaders to be up and doing."

The NEW YORK EVENING WORLD declares that great corporations which ultimately must make improvements will not only be performing a patriotic service by pushing construction work now, but they will be saving money for themselves by doing so. "If more of the great corporations of the nation were to emulate the example of the Pennsylvania Railroad," it concludes, "much would be done to hurry us through the depression."

"The policy adopted by the Pennsylvania lines," according to the BIRMINGHAM NEWS, "is already being widely followed. Doubtless this accounts largely for the signs of quickening activity in the business world now to be found. Or it may be the other way round. Perhaps in many instances the signs of general economic improvement are responsible for the speeding up or expansion of building programs. At any rate, it is certain that there has been a marked revival of confidence."

Autopsy Reports On Irene-Dague Received Here

Official Notification Of Execution Received By Prothonotary Campbell

RECORDS IN CASE ARE NOW COMPLETE

Officials notification of the execution of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague at Rockview penitentiary for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul, was received by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell this morning. The papers were filed with others in the Schroeder-Dague case and complete the court house records of what was undoubtedly the most sensational case ever tried in Lawrence county.

The records received this morning give a brief description of the persons executed, the time when they went to the electric chair and details of the autopsies which were held following the executions.

These autopsies were complete in every detail. The data goes into the condition and weight of the brains of each. It tells how much their hearts weighed, the weight of their lungs. The condition of their stomachs, liver, kidneys, and in fact all of the organs in the abdominal cavities.

The action of the electric current which caused their deaths is also given in detail.

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

The Buffalo division was first with 99.8. The E. & A. had a percentage of 95.1 for on-time operations of all its trains. Delays in connecting division trains in turn delay E. & A. trains, lowering the record accordingly.

Speed In Classroom Is Hindrance To Learning

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Recently we discussed the ill effect of speed to the child in the classroom. A few more words today.

What about speed in relation to thinking? Can any one think clearly when he is emotionally disturbed? Can any one think well when he is uncomfortable? Some think under pressure, to be sure, but rarely by the stopwatch. Now you and I do limited even by the stopwatch, if we hold the watch; but when another holds the watch we are likely to go to pieces.

To think well one must be comfortable and calm, one must be free from distractions and emotional annoyances. But the average schoolroom is about the last place for good thinking to be done.

The modern mania for speeding in our schools has resulted in a mental mess for most children. Instead of furthering good learning it has hindered it. If the modern stopwatch education meant more effective learning there might be some argument for sacrificing physical and mental health. Not many would concede so much as that.

How absurd it is that all over this country, from coast to coast and from the Gulf to Canada, there prevails the general atmosphere of great haste in the schoolroom! This annoyance of speed prevents good learning and good thinking, and the resulting learning difficulties cause in turn more distractions, more emotional disturbances, more physical discomfort, more waste of energy, less co-ordination of the entire nervous system.

Watch a schoolroom full of children who are kept upon their toes in the exciting stopwatch atmosphere of the average elementary school. What is their likelihood of learning? What must be their pulse rate and speed of respiration? How much nervous tension they must suffer from! What anxieties they feel! And all to no purpose but to sacrifice these children to the Demon Speed!

"How long, Oh, Lord, how long" shall this go on? The end is not in sight; nor has the worst arrived. The speed insanity has reached such a powerful momentum that if many brakes were thrown on, it could not be checked for several years.

Behind it is the bulk of pedagogical literature of the past ten years, and the brains of many of the most gifted educational experts. Against the tide of speeding in the school almost none among school men have raised a voice or penned a line.

The medical profession is becoming conscious of the dire results. Physicians are observing evidence first hand. In the near future we shall hear from them. Parents have been much concerned. They have said but little because they assume that those employed to direct the education of their children should know what they are doing. But let any one ask a group of parents how they feel about it. They will answer not ambiguously, but with a strong conviction.

College Doctors Start Class To Fatten Students

Course In Diet And Time Budgeting Started At Penn State College

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Mar. 3.—Starting with twenty men in a demonstration group, the health service of the Pennsylvania State College opened a course in diet and time budgeting this week in an endeavor to correct underweight among the students.

Dr. J. P. Rittenour, college physician, pointed out that only 27 percent of the freshmen who enter Penn State last fall were of normal weight at that time. Forty-five percent of the incoming men were border line cases or underweight, and 26 percent were more than seven percent underweight, which is considered the danger line.

Dr. Rittenour said, lies in susceptibility to tuberculosis, adding that recent surveys show this disease is increasing among persons from 16 to 20 years of age, although it is decreasing in other age groups.

The diet and time budget program started by the college health service is under the direct supervision of Dr. C. D. Dieterich, assistant to Dr. Rittenour. Dr. Dieterich, who has had considerable experience in health camps, is basing his program on sufficient food and ample rest. The plan makes use of a complete time budget for the 24 hours of the day with provision for special adaptations for students who fail to show expected gains.

Late hours, worry, and sacrificing breakfast for a few minutes more sleep, are given by Dr. Dieterich as major causes for students failing to gain weight. By means of progress charts of the twenty men in the demonstration group, together with their time budgets, Dr. Dieterich hopes to persuade other Penn State students to follow a similar regime and correct an underweight condition which may be dangerous.

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Peter's Adventures

CRONIES AGREE TO DISAGREE
The longer Peter looked at Grandfather and Daddy Longlegs the more he longed to meet them. The boy said as much to Ambush Bug.

"A meeting can easily be arranged," declared Ambush Bug, showing an agreeable side of him that not even those who knew him best had ever guessed the cannibal possessed. "I tell you what you do, sir! Slide down the goldenrod stalk, and if you make haste you will reach the ground before they can tear them selves apart. See how their long legs are snarled? They seem to be having a worse time than usual, getting themselves unknixed."

"Do you think they will talk to me?" asked Peter. "I should like to hear what they have to say for themselves."

"Oh, they will talk to you all right, once they come out of the fix they are in and find you there. Only be careful to make no sound on the way

Penn. Boy is Healthiest

"MY little son, James, suffered from constipation," says Mrs. A. G. Toner, 267 South 55th St., Philadelphia. "He was having a hard time until I heard of California Fig Syrup and got him some. The first few doses regulated his bowels, brightened him up marvelously; even seemed to strengthen him and help his digestion."

"I have since used Fig Syrup with James during colds or upsets. It has been a wonderful help to him; has assisted in making him the strong boy you see—perhaps the healthiest one in our neighborhood."

For more than fifty years, mothers have praised California Fig Syrup. Leading physicians advise its use with bilious, headachy, constipated children, or to keep the bowels open during colds or children's diseases. Children love its rich, fruity flavor. It tones and strengthens weakened bowels; helps make children robust.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germs, laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

New Castle Representative Is Named At Organization Session Monday

Probers Of House To Have First Meeting On Thursday Morning

(From News Bureau)

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 3—

With the commission organized, and the preliminary work out of the way, the House Investigating Commission will get down to serious work on Thursday, March 5, when testimony will be taken in the complaint of citizens of Lackawanna County concerning the Scranton Spring Brook Water case. About 1,000 citizens are expected to be present and the hearing will be held in the hall of the House.

The commission met Monday afternoon and organized. D. Glenn Moore of Washington County being elected chairman, and Bart Richards of New Castle as secretary. Governor Pinchot was notified that the commission was ready to proceed and invited him to name the three observers authorized by the terms of the resolution. He announced that the three observers who would represent the public are Morris L. Cooke of Philadelphia, Rev. Fr. James Cox of Pittsburgh and H. J. Crawford of Emlenton. In addition counsel is to be appointed for the commission and he will probably be Attorney Harold Evans of Philadelphia, a former member of the Public Service Commission.

While the scope of the Senate Investigating Commission is limited, that of the House is broad, and goes far beyond the Senate. Under the terms of the resolution authorizing the investigation, the House Commission is to investigate the actions, affairs, decision, functions, policies, powers, and duties of the Public Service Commission and of the members and administrative personnel thereof, the existing law relating to public service companies, the rates, service, practices, valuations, financial structures, ownership, management, control, propaganda and political activities of the companies operating in Pennsylvania and holding companies holding the stock of such public service companies. Letters have already been sent to all borough presidents, and councils, and similar letters will be sent to councils and city solicitors of cities of the first, second and third classes, asking them to produce any evidence which they feel should come before the commission. The boroughs will be heard on March 11, and the cities at a future date.

Out of the House investigation and the Senate investigation are expected to come recommendations leading to new laws relating to the Public Service Commission and the utilities.

Unemployed Cause Trouble At Albany

Gather At Meeting Of Legislature—Ejected By State Police

(International News Service) ALBANY, Mar. 3.—Three hundred unemployed threw the state assembly chamber into a near riot a minute after the lower house of the legislature had been called to order at 11 o'clock today.

No sooner had Speaker McGinnies appeared on the rostrum than the unemployed men and women who filled every seat in the gallery started to yell and shout their demands for a state dole of $25 a week for married men and $15 for single men.

Two score of state troopers, using their clubs freely, immediately started to eject the unemployed.

The demonstration lasted ten minutes before the state troopers were able to restore order.

One man was knocked unconscious in the south gallery by a state trooper when the man attempted to strike the trooper.

Fully two dozen of the unemployed pounced on Captain Kiley of the state police and beat him until his face was streaming with blood and his uniform torn. Some of the mob had clubs and sticks concealed in their clothing. William Bell, an attaché of the assembly, was also attacked when he attempted to quell the disturbance.

The trouble started when one of the unemployed shouted: "We want relief. Our children are starving."

A state trooper seized him and the battle began. Soon the place was in a bedlam, the demonstrators screaming their protests.

Finally the rioters were driven from the assembly galleries. Fist fights were numerous. After the crowd was herded out into the street, Major John A. Warner, superintendent of state police, ordered a squad of troopers to hurry to the executive mansion to guard Governor Roosevelt.

"This is merely a precautionary measure," said Major Warner.

OWES LIFE TO FLAG.

(International News Service) CHARLOTTE, N. C., Mar. 3.—James Carr, 14, owes his life to the sturdy threads of an American flag.

When the boy fell into a well recently, his cousin, Frank DeCoven, tore a large American flag from a barn on the farm, rolled it into a rope and used the line to pull the lad from the well.

44, GOOD; 45, FINE

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, Mar. 3.—A speed of 44 miles an hour, but not one mile more, is tolerated by police along the exclusive Broadway drive in Maple Heights Village near here. Last year the village collected $20,000 in fines from motorists who believed the limit to be 45 miles an hour, instead of 44.

Search Ruins Of Mexican Theatre For More Victims

Eleven Persons Known Dead In Theatre Fire At Mexico City

(International News Service) MEXICO CITY, Mar. 3.—The fire-blackened ruins of ancient Teatro Principal had yielded eleven bodies today, but it was feared that more victims would be found.

The old playhouse, built in the eighteenth century by monks for benefit performances, was swept by flames early yesterday at the close of the midnight performance. The smallness of the remaining crowd and the quick work of the firemen averted a major catastrophe.

The fire broke out in the midst of a dance by a group of Mexican chorus girls, who fled to the street. In the resulting stampede by the audience, at least a score were injured. A short circuit caused the blaze.

Certain Folk Made Ill By Some Foods

Dr. Clendenen Tells Of Newly Found Disease Cause

By LOGAN CLENDENEN, M. D.

Poisoning by food or by the remains of food in the intestines is, in spite of wide popular belief to the contrary, not a very real danger. People who think they are being chronically poisoned by what they eat or from intestinal intoxication usually are victims of nerves. In plain words, hypochondriacs. The equally prevalent notion that many kinds of skin eruption are due to digestive disturbances gets little encouragement from the regular medical profession.

One form of food poisoning, however, is undoubtedly real—the existence of idiosyncrasies or peculiar reactions to food on the part of certain people. This condition has been studied for only a short time, but already a large mass of facts have been accumulated. (Also, incidentally a large mass of fancies.) In fact, the studies made all over the world have resulted in creating a new division of the causation of disease, and has been given the general name allergy. Perhaps a better, certainly a simpler and more understandable word, is hypersensitiveness.

A second cause consists of animal emanations and dandruff which are inhaled when the sensitized person gets near an animal. The third frequent cause for the symptoms is from absorption of special foods.

The symptoms which occur in a sensitive person when exposed to the active substance are quite definite. Respiratory distress is well illustrated by hay fever—nasal discharge, sneezing, cough and finally asthma. Asthma alone may occur from food or dandruff absorption. Various skin diseases are certainly to be ascribed to this phenomenon—hives, and peculiar swellings called angio-neurotic oedema as well as eruptions of other kinds.

Many other conditions have been ascribed to food allergy. The physicians who have worked in the field have been notable more for enthusiasm than for critical judgment on the material before them. Hence they have announced that migraine headaches, epilepsy, dizziness and many abdominal conditions are due to hypersensitiveness. In fact, as asthmatics are apt to do, they have been inclined to take over the whole field of medicine for their pet. No certain signs of allergy exist, however, except asthma, hay fever, hives and a few other skin eruptions (poison ivy, primrose dermatitis).

The diagnosis of the condition is based on the existence of a family tendency, a history of attacks after definite exposure to the offending substance, and the demonstration of positive reactions. It is a peculiarity of these sensitized persons that if a small amount of the substance to which they are sensitive is introduced into the skin, a large wheal is formed there, and even general hives and asthma follow. This fact is used in medical laboratories to clinch the diagnosis.

Senate Probers Deeply Muddled Resume Inquiry

Senate Committee Further Embittered By Charges Made By Pinchot

COMMISSION HAS OFFERED DEFENSE

Senator Salus, Philadelphia, Bitterly Assails Pinchot And Earnest

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Mar. 3.—Further embittered, more deeply muddled by the developments so far this week the senate committee today will again resume its investigation of the Public Service Commission.

The committee today plans to again call to the witness chair a number of employees of the commission who so far have not had an opportunity to complete their testimony. That plan, according to Governor Pinchot's charges yesterday, merely affords representatives of the commission "an opportunity to testify to their own virtue."

Charges Answered
In addition to the reiteration of charges made by Governor Pinchot in his address yesterday the committee has before it the first formal attempt of the members of the public service commission to set up a defense.

That defense is in the form of a letter to Senator William H. Earnest, the chairman, in which some of the Pinchot charges are answered from the commission's viewpoint.

The commission's letter took marked exception to the Pinchot charges that some utility companies in Pennsylvania are earning as high as 60 per cent upon their reported capital investments. Admitting that there might be such instances of small or independent companies, the commission refused to agree with the Pinchot charge that any large company made such profits. According to the commission, cumulative reductions in electric rates have saved Pennsylvania consumers $62,000,000 during the past four years as compared to $24,000,000 during the previous Pinchot administration.

Differs with Pinchot
The committee also has evinced its first tendency to strike back in answer to the charges and insults which the governor has heaped upon it. In a statement last night Chairman Earnest differed with the governor and his attorney general on the wisdom of submitting to the cross-examination of a legislative body.

Schnader in his formal opinion to the governor mentioned the fact that Governor Hartranft had refused to appear before a grand jury and been upheld in his stand by the supreme court. Devising a little further into the history of the same case, Senator Earnest discovered that Governor Hartranft had appeared, been sworn and testified like any ordinary witness before a legislative committee. Attorney General Schnader's opinion had held that it would be a dangerous precedent for a governor to submit to legislative questioning.

Another development last night was the speech of Senator Samuel Salus, Philadelphia, in which he openly charged for the first time that the governor is playing politics by his commission and utility investigation agitation.

Salus Scores Pinchot
The Salus speech was in answer to one by Senator Clarence J. Buckman, Bucks, in which he deplored the fact that at the present rate of progress the members of the legislature would be wearing straw hats when they reported for sessions next June. Buckman blamed that condition on the dilatory tactics of committee chairmen.

Salus, on the other hand, blamed the governor and his failure to abide by the section of the now famous Schnader opinion which emphasized the fact that there are three branches of the state government and each should keep to its separate field. Because the governor delights in reference to the late President Theodore Roosevelt, Salus hammered steadily away at the former's unwillingness to submit to questioning of the Senate investigating committee. If Roosevelt in the charge up San Juan Hill had shouted, "Please, Spaniards, don't shoot—I want to be a hero" that event would have been comparable to the governor appearing before the committee, making his charges and then hurrying from the room, according to the Salus comparison of the two men.

Greenfield Absent
The committee because of the press of other legislative work will hold only morning sessions today and tomorrow.

The only witness of importance who has been subpoenaed and not appeared is Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia real estate operator, who is now engaged in plans for the reopening of the Bankers Trust Company of that city.

House Calendar Is Lightened By Work On Monday

House Members Discuss Speech By Rep. Sarig, Berks County

FIVE BILLS ARE PASSED FINALLY

New Bills Continue To Reach Hooper In Lower Chamber

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Mar. 3.—The lower house of the General Assembly today entered actively on the week's legislative work with calendar considerably lightened, and with members discussing the action of Rep. Sarig, Democrat of Berks, in taking the floor in the opening session to discuss the relations of Gov. Pinchot and the legislature.

The Democratic house leader discussed at length the opinion of attorney-general Schnader advising the governor not to undergo cross-examination by the Senate utilities probe committee and declared that for the first time in 16 years he has found a governor who recognizes a line of demarcation between the executive and legislative branches of the state government.

Sarig Hopeful

Sarig commented hopefully on the connotations of the opinion, and hoped the "time honored distinction" between the executive and legislative branches would be observed. Capping his remarks, he presented a resolution which declared, in its closing paragraphs, that "a Daniel has at last come to judgment and a defender has arisen who will scrupulously observe the line of distinction between the functions of the legislative and executive branches" and declaring this "a day of independence when the legislature of Pennsylvania was granted its freedom from further executive interference and domination."

The house passed five bills finally and sent them to the Senate, and advanced 29 first reading bills, and half a dozen second reading bills. Measures given final passage included the Adams bill validating acts done and contracts made to or by first class corporations; the Turner bill eliminating necessity of appointing viewers in street proceedings except when required; the Haysmaier measure authorizing adjoining boroughs to construct and maintain overhead or underground passageways; and the Turner bill regulating surcharges against borough officers.

New Bills Continue
A resolution slated to be called up today, was presented by Rep. Peck, Indiana, asking the department of Internal Affairs to make a survey of the state to ascertain what revenue the state could collect under an income tax law.

New bills continued to flow into the lower chamber of its opening session. Among them was one by Rep. Steedle, Allegheny, permitting counties to incur indebtedness and borrow for purchase and improvement of bridges, tunnels and subways; one by Hartsock, Blair, exempting estates of $5,000 or less from the inheritance tax; another by Talbot, Delaware, fixing 2,000 pounds as the weight of a ton of anthracite coal.

Appropriation Up
Rep. Wheeler, Forest, sponsored a series of bills providing the amount of money given counties for rural roads shall depend on the ratio of mileage taken over in the county of the state to that taken over in the whole commonwealth.

The house today was ready to pass on first reading the administration bills making appropriations of more than $11,000,000 for construction at various state institutions.

The measures were sponsored by Rep. Steedle, Allegheny, and were reported from the appropriations committee last night. Designed to provide employment, the funds will be available as soon as the measures are both chambers and receive executive approval.

tration. She said the governor wants the people back of him and she lauded Senator George T. Wein-gartner and the other representatives of Lawrence County, who have been sent to Harrisburg. She said they were upholding the governor in every manner possible.

She said the investigation which had been conducted in the senate was really a "white washing" investigation to block the investigation which Governor Pinchot is trying to make.

She scored the Utilities committee, saying the governor of the state is going to investigate thoroughly in order to find out if the Public Service commission shall be abolished or not.

Mrs. Pinchot said "Utility is a business that serves the people in a public utility will be backed by private capital. Such utilities as gas, electricity, water supplies, transportation, heat and light, telephones and other commodities of service to the public, are given a franchise by the government, with the stipulation that they will operate at reasonable rates, and the governor has no right to say what is meant by "reasonable" and the legislators have no right to say what is "reasonable." This is left up to the Public Service commission and according to Mrs. Pinchot, this committee has not been functioning to the advantage of the people, but to the owners of the operating companies.

Governor Pinchot's plan is to do away with the Public Service commission and have a "Fair Rates" board which will really protect the people of Pennsylvania. "Who Is Going to Control," the utilities companies or the government, is the issue of the controversy.

Mrs. Pinchot asked for the co-operation of the citizens and their representatives in backing up the governor's administration.

The trip to the South Sea Islands was then introduced and Mrs. Pinchot said it had been Gifford Pinchot's desire for many years to go to these out of the way places, which were off the beaten track of the commercial and sailing vessels and on the "Mary Pinchot" a three masted schooner, equipped with a Diesel oil burner, the company set forth, under the auspices of the National Museum of Washington, D. C. and the Philadelphia Academy of Science.

The party set sail from New York Harbor, went down around Florida and off the east coast of Florida came upon some islands that seemed never to have been visited by civilized man; on Old Providence, the ship was stuck on a reef and it was feared for a time they would be battered to pieces by the ocean, but finally a large swell washed them out to sea; when the danger was even worse; however they were finally able to come into a harbor that took them within distance of the shore and they landed in small boats and explored this island, which was once the home of pirates; a large old Spanish cannon was found here.

When the Cocos Islands were reached the company did a lot of investigating as the animal life on this island was one of the objects of the expedition; here were found porpoises, which are warm blooded mammals, some of them immense, some rare specimens were caught and prepared for the museum.

Across the equator the schooner sailed with the weather cool as they crossed, where they had expected torridity, this coolness is caused by a cool current.

The Galapagos Islands were then reached and here large tortoise, albatross, lizards and sea lions were found in abundance; animal life on the islands was over abundant, the pictures showing clouds of albatrosses, sea gulls and the rocks of the islands were covered with iguanas, many of which were brought back. A large collection of turtles was made, with one huge fellow weighing nearly 150 pounds. He is now alive in the Washington museum.

On then to Marquesas, the most beautiful island of the group, and marvelous was the scenery about this island and some most gorgeous pictures were taken. A different view, showing the abundant coconut groves and the way the cocoanut leaves and trunks are used in the making of the homes of the natives. Splendid entertainment was afforded the group by the natives, when they presented dances for the ships crew.

The Paumotu Islands were the last visited; these being coral islands, only eight or nine feet above the sea level and formed of layer upon layer of coral.

At this place there are great pearl beds and the natives are expert divers. Here also Mrs. Pinchot donned diver's helmet and went to the bottom of the ocean, seeking specimens of rare coral formations. It was with reluctance she was drawn out of the water.

education value, it being a great deal more comfortable to look at some of the gawsome animals and fish that the travellers caught and were surrounded by than to have been in the midst of it, although Mrs. Pinchot said they had enjoyed every minute of the voyage.

COUNTY CENTENARIAN SAYS PROHIBITION GODSEND TO COUNTRY

nating. "Yes, the changes have been wonderful. I can remember when the main street of New Castle was filled with rocks and stones. You couldn't hit them all driving through, and you couldn't miss them all. And then the hogs that used to wallow in the street. I worked in Youngstown one time when it was just a little bit of a place. I suppose Youngstown is as large as New Castle now, isn't it?" He was assured that it was.

"People didn't need so much room then, it seemed. There were 10 people who didn't have a buggy to one that did, and most of us did our travelling in crackly wagons. We did most of our business in Harrisburg then, but once in a long time we would get a trip into New Castle."

Autos Change It All
"The automobiles have changed all that. I don't know where they all come from. Night and day they keep running along the road outside, and when they get the new bridges finished it will be worse, no doubt."

"Do you remember much of the old days back in Ireland?"
"Yes, I can remember back to 1836 when I was just a child. One of the things that stands out in my memory was one 12th of July in the little town where I lived. The Orangemen were celebrating and the anti-Orangemen started a brawl with them."

"They had such things often then. It was all foolishness, and as I look back it seems to me that when things were quiet among the Irish the English would stir things up to keep them divided. Silly business if the Irish had stuck together they would have had their own nation and everybody would have gotten along in peace."

"Do you do any work now, Mr. McCormick?"
"Well, not as much as I used to. I never was without a day's work in my life, but winters I have to stay inside now. But in the summer now I do a few chores that would take somebody else's time. But I don't work so much any more. I caught a cold last Thanksgiving and I've been in the house ever since."

"What do you do for recreation?"
"I read mostly. We get seven farm papers here and I like to read them. My eyesight is good, but my hearing isn't as keen as it used to be."

"Do you read the New Castle News?"

"No I don't. I used to take it when it was a weekly, but when they changed to a daily it got to be too much reading for a busy man. The papers would get piled up and I couldn't read them all, so I quit taking it."

"What was the first work you ever did?"
"Well, when I was a lad of about six, I started to work, filling the bobbins for my mother who was a weaver. She wove in the summer and my father wove in the winter. Summers he tended the farm. I never took up weaving, however. I went in more for coal mining and farming. When I started to work I got six cents a day. That wouldn't go far these days, would it?"

"Did you ever use tobacco?"
"Never in my life. I never had any appetite for the stuff. I don't know that there is any good in it for anybody, and I don't like to see people going around like turkey gobblers, looking for a place to spit."

Took a Little Drink

"How about liquor, Mr. McCormick?"
"Oh, I used to take a little drink occasionally. I never saw the time when I couldn't take care of my work, though, and I could always take it or leave it alone."

How about prohibition?
Apparently this was a favorite topic for the old gentleman, for he said enthusiastically, "It's a mighty Godsend to this country. Where would we be if there was liquor sold openly now, with all these automobiles rushing up and down the road? Why, you wouldn't be able to find enough grave diggers to dig holes for the ones who would be killed. It's a Godsend, I tell you, to young and old. Prohibition is working in this country and I hope it continues."

"Who was the first President you ever voted for?"
"General Grant, as I recall it."

"Then you've always been a Republican?"
"No sir (with some heat). I've always voted for the best man, regardless of party affiliation."

And then came the last question, the one stock question that is asked of all centenarians.

"What is your advice to young people today, if they want to live to your age?"
Again that delightful little chuckle, a twinkle of the eyes, as he said, "Now I haven't got any advice for anybody. For myself I've never been sick a day in my life. Tell them to get to bed at eight o'clock at night and get up and go to work early in the morning. But as for advice, I haven't any to offer."

And so I left him there in the living room of his son Patrick's home, this unusual old chap who though nearly a century old has kept his sense of the fitness of things.

If he lives until next February, he will be one hundred years old, a truly remarkable age. But then, he is a truly remarkable old gentleman.

Lieut. Gen. Jadwin Called By Death In Sudden Manner

Chairman Of Inter-Oceanic Canal Commission Dies Suddenly Of Apoplexy

SUFFERS STROKE IN CONFERENCE

(International News Service) BALBOA, C. Z., Mar. 3.—The body of Lieut. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chairman of the Inter-Oceanic Canal Commission who died suddenly last night, will be taken aboard the army transport Saint Mihel today, to be returned to the United States for burial.

He died at Gorgas hospital at 7 p. m. after suffering a stroke of apoplexy while in conference with army engineers. He was 65 years old and a native of Honesdale, Pa.

General Jadwin arrived here some ten days ago as head of the commission charged with investigating the proposed Nicaraguan canal route as well as the possibility of making the Panama Canal a water level canal. He had planned to continue to Nicaragua from here for further surveys.

Remarkable Career
General Jadwin had a remarkable career, crowded with achievements as soldier and builder that brought him world recognition. He was one of General Goethals' chief assistants, supervising construction of the Gatun Locks of the Panama Canal. During the World War he organized the 15th U. S. Engineers, the first American regiment to pass under arms through England; in subsequent months he supervised the activities of 161,000 men in road, railroad, hospital, warehouse and barracks constructions for the A. E. F.

His work in executing a plan adopted by congress for Mississippi flood control influenced President Hoover in appointing him as head of the Inter-Oceanic Canal project.

West Point Graduate
He graduated from Lafayette college at Easton, Penna., and in 1890 with high honors from the United States Military Academy at West Point. He married Miss Jean Lauck of Easton. The widow, who was with him at the time of death, and two children survive.

The transport Saint Mihel, which leaves here late tonight, will carry also the body of General George Leroy Irwin, former Canal Department Commander. He died aboard a ship while enroute here from a vacation in Italy.

Frank L. Burton Speaks At Meeting Of Business Women

Local B. P. W. C. Is Observing National Business Women's Week By Luncheon

National Business Women's Week was given a fine launching, Monday evening, by some sixty members of the local Business and Professional Women's club. The club met in the Green Room at the Y. W. C. A. at 6 o'clock for dinner, followed by an excellent program.

Prof. Frank L. Burton, well known educator and past president of the New Castle Rotary club, and Mrs. Roy Long, a member of the board of the Mothers' Assistance fund, were the main speakers of the program.

At an impressive initiation ceremony, five new members were admitted into the club. These members, Misses Mildred Sargeant, Mary Boyle, Wilda Smith, Hazel Armstrong and Martha McIlwain, were given a welcome by Miss Nancy Bechtol, president of the local club. "The Golden Key," a song written by Carrie Jacobs Bond and dedicated to the Business and Professional Women's clubs, was rendered in a lovely way by the charming vocalist, Miss Mary Harvard, who is a member of the club.

Mr. Burton was introduced by Miss Edythe Dunlap and gave a most interesting talk on "Parasites in the Service Club." He told of the different species of undesirable people who join service clubs. He mentioned that many people join for any reason except to be of use to his community.

Mrs. Frank L. Burton was a special guest of the occasion. Mrs. Roy Long was introduced to the club by Dr. Mildred Rogers. Mrs. Long told of the Mothers' Assistance, a monthly grant given by the state and counties jointly to needy mothers whose husbands are dead or incurably mentally ill and whose children are too young to work. Pennsylvania established the Mothers' Assistance fund in 1913 for the purpose of keeping fatherless children in their own homes, with their own mothers.

Mrs. Long said that 2,497 mothers are on the waiting list because no more money is available under the present law. She asked the B. P. W. C. club to sign a resolution asking the legislative body to take action on this matter.

The members unanimously agreed to do so. Miss Genevieve Riddle, secretary, read the minutes of a past meeting. Miss Naomi Raney, treasurer, gave her report. Miss Rose Barber, of the legislative committee gave a report of the thrift questionnaire recently given the members.

Dr. Rogers read a resolution drawn up by Miss Alice Sterling of the inter-relations committee, asking the senate to defend vigorously the World Court movement.

The secretary read letters of thanks from one of the members, the P. E. O. Sisterhood and Ruth Bryan Owen.

The president, Miss Bechtol, made mention of the Public Relations dinner to be held March 16, at which time guests from a number of civic clubs will be present. Announcement was made that on Sunday evening, at 7:30, the Business and Professional Women will go to the Trinity Episcopal church, corner of Mill and Falls street, together.

A luncheon will be enjoyed on Wednesday, March 11, in the Green Room, at 12:15. There will be a brief program.

Do the Fat Love Fat?

If not, there is small excuse for excess in these scientific days

Science has determined that excess fat is largely due to a weakened thyroid gland. That gland secretion is a premier factor in nutrition. It helps turn food into fuel and energy which otherwise goes to fat. After countless experiments on animals and human beings, the consensus of opinion is that this lacking factor must be fed. Physicians the world over now accept that doctrine and employ it. As a result, excess fat has disappeared by tons in late years. And without starvation, over-exercise or harmful drugs.

Marmola prescription tablets appeared on the verge of this discovery. A world-famous medical laboratory prepares them to accord with modern science. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. And nobody needs to be told that excess fat has largely disappeared. Ask your friends who know what Marmola does. You cannot do that by starvation. Look about you and see the revolution it has wrought. Why doubt a help which, for 24 years, has done what Marmola has done?

Go get a box. Read the book in it, containing the formula and all reasons for results. When your weight comes down and new vim appears, you will know why the results are good.

Don't wait longer. Marmola costs only $1 a box at your drugstore. The purpose is to correct an abnormal condition. Learn what it means to you in new beauty, new health and vim. Then please tell others.

City Gets $403 In Dance Receipts

Every time Milady One-Stops or goes through some other sort of a terpsichorean move in a public hall she's helping the city treasury as without her and the escort it wouldn't be possible for the dance hall proprietor to pay the city for a license and the operator for a dance permit.

During last year the cost of licenses to run dance halls cost $150.00 and permits enriched the city $253.

"YES I am 39 years Old!"

SAYS IRENE RICH

This charming screen star tells how Hollywood keeps the lure of smooth, youthful skin...

"I DON'T mind confessing it a bit," says Irene Rich with her warm, irresistible smile. "I really am thirty-nine years old!"

"A screen star never worries about birthdays, you see, as long as she doesn't look old. To hold her public—to face the cruel test of the close-up—she must keep the fresh loveliness of youth."

"That is why in Hollywood we guard complexion beauty above all else. We know it says 'youth' quicker than anything else. Any woman who wants to keep her charm right through the years should keep her skin always soft, smooth, youthfully aglow."

How does this lovely star

IRENE RICH AND HER TWO DAUGHTERS

(left to right) Frances, twenty years old, Jane (in background), fourteen, their mother, actually 39! Still radiantly youthful, still irresistibly appealing, Irene Rich is one of the countless stars who use Lux Toilet Soap to guard complexion beauty. "Any woman can keep her youthful freshness right through the years," she says. "The right soap can do wonders for your skin. I have used Lux Toilet Soap regularly for years, and my daughters, too, have already started to use this gentle, soothing care."

IRENE RICH, the screen star whose loveliness has endeared her to millions, confesses frankly to thirty-nine birthdays. And why not? Above is one of her most recent photographs. Years have only added to her charm. Today she faces even the cruel test of close-up lights triumphantly youthful, as this picture (right) from one of her recent films shows!

NEW YORK, Mar. 3—A man was committed to the insane asylum the other day after calling a telephone "an instrument of the devil."

He secured a writ of habeas corpus and was freed—one of the doctors at the nut house testifying that the telephone hater was "fairly normal."

Who's looney now?

MAN'S INHUMANITY
A New York woman seeking a divorce alleges cruelty. Hubby planned to sell his two large automobiles and buy a Baby Austin.

The plaintiff weighs 230 pounds.

SPEEDY CAREER

Life proceeds at a rapid pace in Tammany Town.

In the neighborhood of the Gilbert & Sullivan studios a gent with an aduncous beak and an eager eye opened a small lingerie and glove shop ten days ago.

Yesterday the facade of the establishment was covered by a large oil-cloth sign:

"In hands of stock adjusters. Forced to sell out."

A fly-by-night concern of similar caliber opened for business on W. 42d St., six weeks ago, and the other day the proprietor advertised an "Anniversary Sale."

NAUGHTY MAN

New York has its own Al Capone. He's a garage keeper on the East Side, and appeared in court recently charged with having lambasted a "citizen." When the magistrate ruled "mistaken identity" Al Capone thus delivered himself.

"Sometime soon the newspapers are going to find out about me, and then I'll get $1,000 offers for my story. I'll rip the town wide open because of the depression I'll take half a 'grand' right now. I've had experience that'd make that Chicago boy blush!"

WON'T MUSCLE IN

Speaking of the real thing—"Scarface Al." He's quoted as saying, "I've been asked if I came home to write the story of my life. It probably would make a lot of money. The last bid I had was 2,000, 000—that included moving picture rights, serial rights and book rights."

"But I'm not going into the literary business. That would be cutting in on the work of the boys who are writing about me."

Bernard Shaw, at his best, was never any better than that.

SEZ HE!

Doc. Watson, the Behaviorist says that "it is my experience that only about 2 per cent of all marriages are happy."

The old optimist!

IN OTHER WORDS!

The Doc, also says: "Constant fidelity to the same woman leads to monotony."

That's just another way of expressing the old Greenwich Village line about "monogamy being society's plan for perpetuating the commonplace."

VIEWPOINT

Another Doc, whose name I've forgotten how to spell, and that no one would remember, anyway, says that you get no good out of a cigarette by smoking it fast and furiously.

Who wants to get any "good" out of a cigarette?

You smoke a cigarette because you feel like smoking it—not for any "good" you're going to get out of it.

In that respect smoking is like drinking. When you take a half-nelson on a "snifter" because you crave one, you're obeying a normal and healthy instinct.

When you flirt with the "cursed stuff" because you're blue or "for your stomach's sake" you're just plain immoral.

Eat when you're hungry, drink when you're dry, smoke whenever you feel like it, and you've solved the problem of sane living.

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been, like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same.

Go to Eckerd's of New Castle Inc. or any other good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moore's

Emerald Oil—an 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Remember that Moore's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

Spring Fever Needs More Than Cure From Bottles

"Certain diseases like measles and whooping cough run in cycles, so much so that their periodical incidence can be anticipated quite definitely. And while the majority of them do not occur annually, there is one indisposition which becomes very prevalent during March and April of each year. For the lack of a better term it is called 'spring fever,'" said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"There can be no question that the vicissitudes of winter, coupled with the more or less natural lack of enthusiasm for the outdoors during the cold season, is bound to lower physical resistance especially if one has suffered from respiratory troubles. And the first warm days consequently develop a physical lassitude if not an actual weakness to such an extent that the condition can be classified as an indisposition. While, of course, some of the trouble is psychological, there is sufficient of the physical involved to justify the suggestion of a remedy."

"Human beings are exceedingly susceptible to curative agencies which do not require personal effort on their part. And for this reason the highly colored and cleverly worded advertisements which lure one to the drug store result in a popularity for patent potions scarcely justified by their actual worth. Of all the bottled concoctions perhaps none enjoys the intense admiration of people as does the spring tonic. Certainly there is no objection, if one is so inclined, to the purchase of a fancy labeled bottle of liquid vim, vigor and vitality. But the point is that this in itself will not be enough."

"Spring fever needs more than bottles. It requires and demands personal effort to overcome it. And the fine thing about it is that the medicine needed is so easily taken. But it must be taken; which is the fact that is so often overlooked."

"The whole thing comes back to old dame nature herself. She abundantly offers sunshine and fresh air and also pleads, silently perhaps, for the exercise of muscles, the proper types of food in proper amounts and for sufficient rest. No one can say that a prescription composed of these ingredients is a sour dose. Daily effort and conscientious attention, yes. But that is about all there is to it."

"Therefore, step up to the vitality counter, place your hands in the form of performance on old nature's shoulders and thus remove the spring fever by placing the spring in your body. Spring fever is an easily vanquished foe. Step out and defeat it."

INCOME TAX FACTS

NO. 26
The cost of capital assets such as building and machinery, less depreciation and salvage, may be deducted from gross income if their use in business suddenly is terminated. Usually such assets must be sold or otherwise disposed of in order to claim a loss. However, there is an exception. If, for example, property has been discarded by reason of some unforeseen cause, such as change in the manufacture of a product to which machinery is especially devoted, or where new legislation makes the continued profitable use of the property impossible, the taxpayer need not have parted permanently with the property in order to claim a loss. But if use of property was abandoned because of depreciation or obsolescence the taxpayer must have parted permanently with it if a loss is claimed.

Loss due to the voluntary removal or demolition of old buildings, the scrapping of old machinery, equipment, etc., due to renewals or replacements, is deductible. But if a taxpayer buys, as the site of a new building, land upon which an old building is not considered a loss that therefore is not deductible. The value of the real estate, exclusive of the old improvements, is presumed to be equal to the purchase price of the land and building plus the cost of removing the useless building.

Democrats Ready For National Gathering

Expect Fireworks Thursday
As Democrats Gather
For National Session

Southern Drys Are Up In Arms Against Policy
Outlined By Raskob

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A preliminary peek into the politics of 1932 may be forthcoming Thursday when the democrats stage their first national meeting of any consequence since the great debacle of 1928.

Probably it will not be a harmonious gathering. Democratic conclaves seldom are. In this week's meeting the degree of harmony depends primarily upon two things: (1) the measures recommended by chairman John J. Raskob for re-financing the $600,000 indebtedness of the party, and, (2) the extent to which the prohibition controversy is injected into the meeting.

Southern Drys Frowned
Southern drys are up in arms over the purpose attributed chairman Raskob of putting the national committee on record concerning prohibition. Raskob has never stated that he would attempt this, but the mere report that such was his intention has been sufficient to kick up a row.

Virginia and Oklahoma delegations in congress on Saturday memorialized their national committee not to stand for any anti-prohibition committee, and almost every democratic dry in congress has joined in the chorus.

Whether, under the circumstances chairman Raskob and his friends will attempt to put through a wet resolution remains to be seen. In some responsible quarters it is seriously doubted if the effort will be made.

Without Authority
Democratic drys point out, and correctly enough, that the national committee has no authority to commit the party anyway. That can only be done by the delegates to a national convention in writing the platform. Why, then, ask the drys, start a fight now, sixteen months before the convention?

To this argument, the democratic wets retort that the party must grasp this prohibition nettle sooner or later, and that it might as well be now as any time. They contend that the convention in 1932 is going to nominate a candidate for president who will be opposed to prohibition, and that it is going to adopt a platform in conformity with this view. Why not, the counter question, clear away the underbrush now?

The argument of the democratic wets is based upon seemingly plausible substance. Even the drys concede that the democratic convention next year will in all probability be dominated by delegates opposed to prohibition. The democracy of virtually the entire east, north and middle west is wet—New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, to mention only part of them.

Oppose Prohibition

Moreover, they point out, almost every democrat who at this time can be considered a serious presidential possibility is also opposed to prohibition in its present form. If not actually and unreservedly wet.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, and Newton D. Baker of Ohio, are outright for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Owen D. Young, considered by some to be really the most formidable of the contenders, has never committed himself on the issue of repeal, but has aligned himself with the so-called liberals on the prohibition question.

Resents Theory

"As a liberal I resent the whole theory of the constitutional amendment and the fanaticism and unreasonable of the Volstead law. But on the other hand, I, for one, do not intend to take any chance on liquor again obtaining the upper hand in this country. I wish a sane law, wisely administered. . . ."

The drys, as yet, have no formidable candidate for the democratic nomination unless he can be said to be Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas. But in 1928, Senator Robinson was Al Smith's running mate, and he stood shoulder to shoulder with Smith in decrying the shortcomings of prohibition, and went almost as far as did Smith in advocating a change.

In point of fact, a good many southern drys in congress are reconciled to the idea of a wet candidate and a wet platform next year. They see no way to escape it. But for political reasons and to placate their dry constituencies, they must protest and they will—vociferously and at length. The meeting on Thursday probably will provide their sounding board.

ITCHING ENDS WHEN ZEMO TOUCHES SKIN

—thousands say. It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to skin which itches and burns. Even in most severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the tender and inflamed surface. To draw out local infection and help to clear away unsightly blemishes, we know of nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it freely. It's safe as can be. 35c, 60c and $1.00. All dealers.

Not Many Keepers Of Disorderly Houses

There were not many arrests made during 1930 on the charge of keeping a disorderly house.

In fact only 28 persons faced such a charge in police court.

Growing out of the arrests however, 117 were arrested as visitors and 14 as inmates.

A disorderly house, under a present city ordinance, constitutes a house where noise, drinking of intoxicants and other fractures of the law occur.

TWELVE ARE JAILED
Twelve persons, or one a month or an average, were jailed by city police last year for driving a motor car while intoxicated.

Public Hearings In Spotlight At Harrisburg Today

Both Houses Of Legislature
Begin Public Hearings
Today

ELECTION CODE IS DISCUSSED

Score Of Organizations Send Delegates To Capital To Express Views

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Mar. 3.—Both Houses of the legislature today will begin in earnest one of the most popular but least productive features of a session—the holding of public hearings.

Members of the Senate and House election committees at 2 o'clock will hold in the Senate chamber a hearing on the proposed election code.
While not emanating from administration sources the major portion of the new code as the approval of Governor Gifford Pinchot, incorporating as it does a majority of the reform for which he has been active.

Silent Opposition Hearings on election measures are different from other hearings in that no opposition ever appears. A score of organizations with ample personnel are interested in election reform. Public hearings permit those employed by such organizations to appear and explain the value of the various provisions incorporated in the measures under discussion. The identity of those opposed to election reform measures is seldom learned. That they are active if not vocal usually becomes apparent when such measures come from committee to much amended that they bear little resemblance to the original drafts.

The code under discussion today will make it enacted into law, a series of sweeping changes in the present system. It will set up election boards, appointed by the governor, in counties of the first four classes. In such boards would be centralized all the election machinery which now operates through county commissioners, boards of registration and the courts. All the county machinery would in turn be centralized in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth.

Personal Registration
Other provisions of the code provide a permanent personal registration and make it more difficult for frauds of various kinds. Much stiffer penalties are provided for conviction of election fraud charges, making jail sentences mandatory as well as disfranchisement for a four year period.

The House committee on constitutional reform at 4 o'clock will begin a hearing on the proposed amendment to the state constitution which will permit payment of old age pensions. Such a proposal has been a feature of all recent sessions of the legislature. Now, however, Governor Pinchot has pledged his aid and influence and for the first time it is believed to have more than an even opportunity of being approved by both Houses.

Another hearing scheduled at 4 o'clock is that of the Senate committee on executive nominations which has before it the names submitted by Governor Pinchot for an entirely new workmen's compensation board. Holding of a public hearing on a governor's nominations is an unprecedented course said to have been taken in this case because of protests against removal of the old board.

Community Class Meets Tonight

The Community Bible classes, being conducted weekly in the Y. W.
C. A. auditorium will be discontinued on March 10 and the subjects for the evening's lesson will be: at 7:45 "Paul's Final Journey to Rome"; and the 8:15 class: "The Life, Time,
and Message of Jeremiah."

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the first Christian church, has conducted these classes and it is with regret that the attendants see the close of the series for this year.

tions of an ordinance by which the here this spring and summer.

There is about $47,000 in the fund thoughts to the city council, the latter states.

MARCH is the Danger Time for Pale Run-Down Children

Children are very susceptible to disease in March. After fighting winter's dangers, resistance is at a low ebb, vitality is lessened and they do not have the reserve strength to resist disease. Now is the time to build up health and strength. For over 75 years Father John's Medicine has proved its worth as a body builder, as a tonic for weak rundown children, as an aid to healthy vigor.

This is because Father John's Medicine, brings, in combination with other valuable ingredients, all the benefits of cod liver oil in the form best suited to a growing child's needs. Over 184 hospitals and institutions use it regularly. Contains no drugs or alcohol. Following its use, pale half-sick children pick right up. Colds become few and far between. Weight is added, strength returns. All druggists have it.

COPS THROW BULL.
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 3.—"Just a little 'bull throwing,'" is the way
Patrolman Jennings and Greeney termed their activity in capturing a bull that had run wild in a suburb near here. They answered a summons for help with motorcycle and side car and set out in pursuit of the animal. Twice the bull did a little "throwing" himself, bowling over the vehicle and dropping its riders in the mud. But the third time—an officer twirled a lasso; it halted the on-rush; and the bull was thrown.

SPENDS DAY HERE
Ralph T. Taylor of Wilkesburg, Pa., stopped in seventh ward on Monday for a visit with friends. Mr. Taylor was enroute on a motor trip to Arkansas.

Observations
In 7th Ward

When little girls of Mahoning avenue get all enthused and excited about mud cakes and when boys get themselves silly to strut up and down Cherry street, it is a pretty safe guess that spring has arrived and has given Jack Frost a forcible punch on the nose. But when boys are seen near the Pennsylvania Power company sub-station playing real baseball, well, Jack Frost is certainly knocked out for the count of ten.

During the past couple days signs of spring have popped up like weeds in a garden, and if one believes in signs, everything is in the bag. A couple of roadsters passed down Liberty street with tops down and rumble seats in use.

There is such a thing as becoming too realistic in a game. Some lads on North Cedar street decided to play Indian. In order to play Indian one really should have a nice bonfire. Kind of useful things to dance around, worship, and with which to send smoke signals. Oh, my, indeed. Well, these kids had their bonfire. It spread and covered the whole hillside. The Indians ran home.

If the power of suggestion and visualization is as beneficial, as friend Coue believes, there will be some mighty fine gardens in seventh ward this year. While observing Monday afternoon, saw a North Cedar street front prospective flower garden all nicely surrounded by a new rope.

Hop scotch is a favorite sport of some local Misses. They have been practicing and are quite expert at hopping along on single sets of legs. This sport don't seem to appeal to the boys. They prefer "finning" their knuckles down and playing "smottles".

Ed McWilliams of North Liberty street has been working out one of his race horses during the past several days. The horse is a beauty and has a worthy gait.

At exactly 1:02 p. m. the nosebags were slipped into place on the noses of two horses standing at the viaduct.

Wood flooring is being put in Lyceum hall, corner Second and Clayton streets.

One of the few remaining "hitching posts" in seventh ward, stands in front of No. 220 North Liberty street.

It is enlightening to hear these firemen converse. They cover every subject from "how to shoe a horse" to "imitating the call of a robin". The other day, when the writer stopped in, Capt. F. F. Gorley was telling the lads how to make marmalade!

Rheumatism
Goes
Swollen Joints
Vanish

How To End Rheumatism In Less Than A Week

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, sore muscles or stiff inflamed joints, it's because your system is full of the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism and make thousands helpless. What you need is RU-MA, and need it right now. RU-MA acts on the blood, stomach, kidneys and liver, and drives the dangerous rheumatic poisons from the system through the natural channels of elimination—it eases pain the first day.

You must use an internal medicine to free the joints and muscles of crippling stiffness, soreness and torturing pain. That's why RU-MA succeeds while external remedies and pain deadening drugs give only temporary relief.

New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's says no matter what kind of rheumatism you have, or how long you have suffered, try RU-MA. It must completely end all rheumatic agony or you get your money back.

Resort Caretaker
Is Shot To Death,
One Man Wounded

Two Men Try To Halt Bombing Of Chicago Resort, Shooting Follows

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Mar. 3.—Sprayed with a volley of machine gun bullets when he attacked a gang of five men as they were attempting to bomb an alleged gambling house in Blue Island, William Mayer, caretaker of the resort, was shot to death today.

Another man stepped in the line of fire and was shot through the head and seriously wounded before the machine gunners escaped.

Hilaro Rodriguez, 35, whose jaw was shattered by bullets, happened on the scene as the gangsters were lighting the bomb fuse. He was stunned by a blow from a revolver and hurled into a coal chute beneath the resort and the spluttering bomb was thrown in on top of him.

Police believe the bombers wished to destroy all possibility of being identified by blowing up Rodriguez along with the resort.

Mayer, aroused by the commotion outside, emerged from the building and opened fire on the gang as they were returning to re-light the bomb fuse when it failed to explode.

Two men stepped from the bombers automobile across the street and directed a raking fire at Mayer which riddled the lower part of his body with twenty or more bullets. He fell mortally wounded as Rodriguez emerged from the coal chute. The Mexican was hit once and fell, seriously wounded. He may recover, physicians said.

Seek Increase In Funds For Mothers Aid

Lawrence County Trustees
Inaugurate Campaign
Among Various Clubs

WOULD CARE FOR THOSE NOW WAITING

Trustees of the Mother's Assistance Fund in Lawrence County are now engaged in a campaign throughout the county, in an effort to create sentiment in favor of increasing the appropriation for the coming biennium of 1931-1933 in order to take care of the great number of mothers on the waiting list.

The work is being presented to the different women's clubs, service clubs and welfare organizations, asking their co-operation and influence. The sum of $4,115,938 is asked by the organization throughout the state which would result in the 2,497 mothers now on the waiting list being placed on the active pay roll.

Present Officers

At the present time, there are 38 families being cared for in Lawrence county, representing 110 children. There are 41 families on the waiting list in the county, representing 120 children.

The trustees and officers of the Mother's Assistance Fund for Lawrence county are:

President—Miss Emma Dodds, New Wilmington

Vice President—Mrs. Roy A. Long, New Castle

Secretary—Mrs. C. H. Young, New Castle

Treasurer—Mrs. Jessie Cunningham, New Castle

Mrs. Walter Gilmore, Hillsville and Mrs. Haines, Ellwood City.

Mother's Assistance is a monthly grant given by the state and counties jointly, to needy mothers, whose husbands are dead or incurably mentally ill and whose children are too young to work. Pennsylvania established the Mother's Assistance Fund in 1913 for the purpose of keeping fatherless children in their own homes, with their own mothers.

On May 31, 1930 there were 5,536 mothers receiving Mother's Assistance grants in Pennsylvania.

Many Await Help

On this same date, a survey showed 2,497 mothers on the waiting list. These mothers are entitled to assistance under the terms of the law but they cannot receive help because no more money is available under the present law. Three out of every ten families eligible for aid must be refused for lack of funds.

Some families must wait a year and a half before their turn can be reached. This long waiting period means suffering for the waiting mothers and children.

The clearing up of the waiting list through the increased appropriation would lighten the load of relief for community chests and local welfare agencies, because the various local welfare agencies are now carrying the entire burden, half of which would be assumed by the state.

The Mother's Assistance fund trustees are urging local residents to contact their state legislators urging them to increase the present state appropriation from $2,750,000 to the $4,115,938 needed to take care of all on the waiting list.

Twenty-Two Hurt By Blast Today In Philadelphia

Three Buildings Damaged By Explosion—Police Start Investigation

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 3.—With more than a score of persons injured, one seriously, police today began an investigation into the mysterious and terrific explosion which last night partially wrecked three apartment houses in West Philadelphia, drove a hundred frightened residents to the streets in scanty attire and shattered windows in nearby homes.

A hasty checkup revealed an injury list of 22.

One girl, as yet unidentified, was reported to have suffered a fractured skull when the heavy blast let go. The other injured suffered lacerations and bruises.

Police centered their investigation on the theory that the explosion was caused by a bomb. The blast apparently let go in the rear of the apartment house at 3807-09 Chestnut Street. Interiors of the structures were wrecked. The Harrison apartments and the rear of the Seville hotel nearby also were damaged.

Windows of all buildings in the neighborhood were shattered. Minor damage was reported from homes ten blocks from the scene.

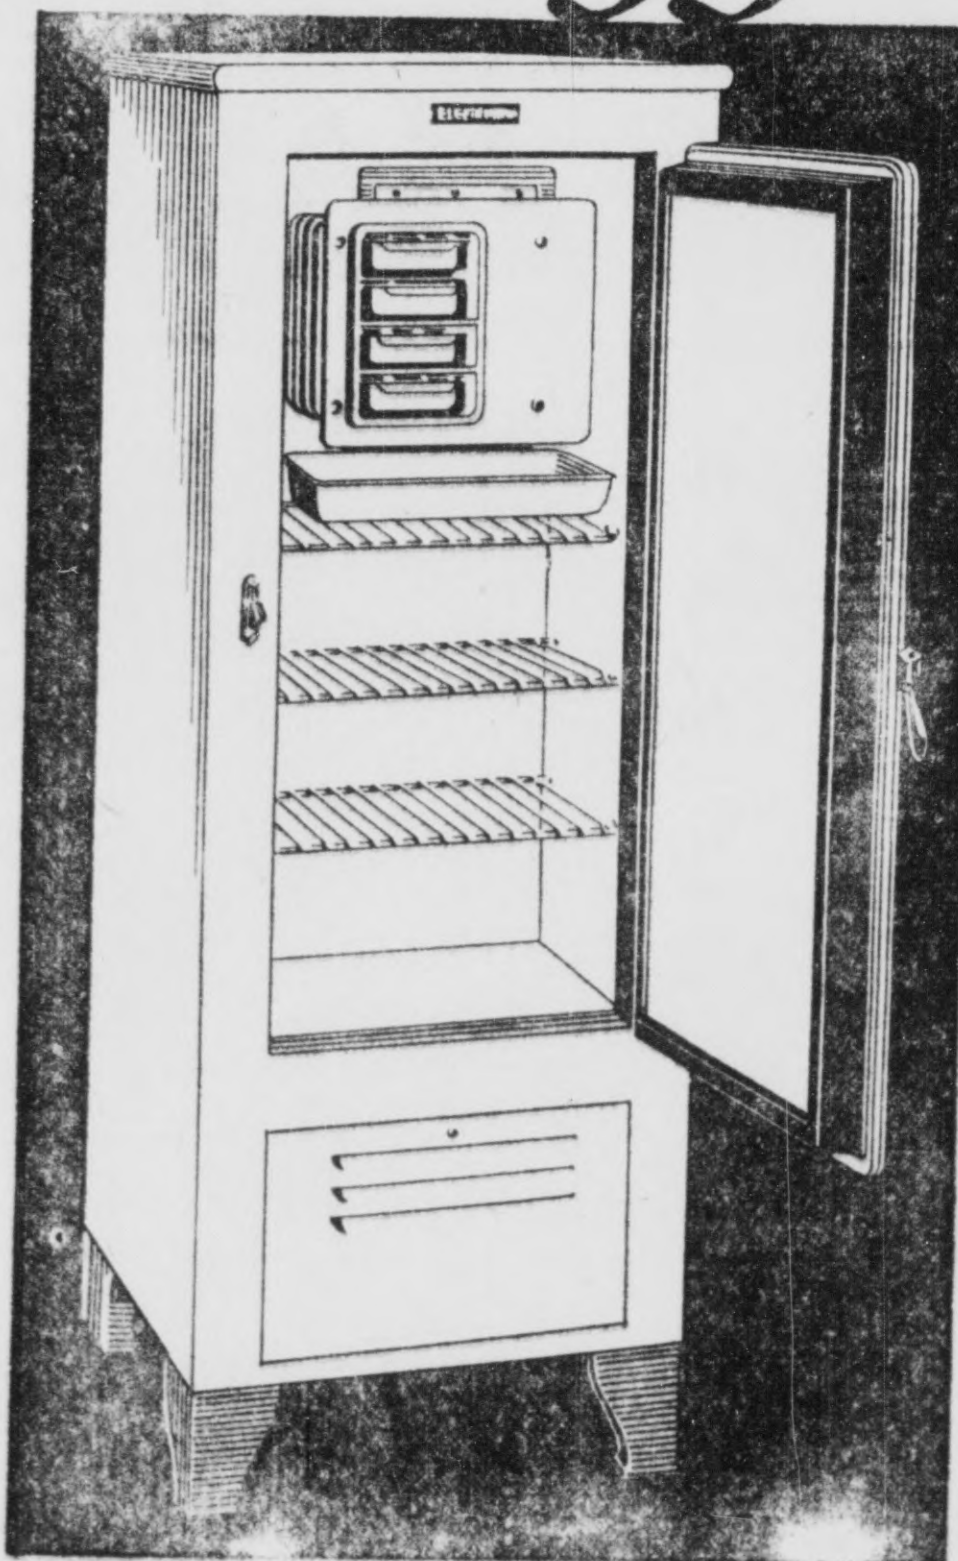

Confiscated Fowls Given To Hospitals

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., Mar. 3.—Patients in Uniontown and Brownsville hospitals were convinced today that it is indeed "an ill wind that blows no good."

Corporal George Pierce, attached to the detail of state police who raided a cock fight Sunday, announced that the 43 game birds confiscated in the raid and valued at $2,000 will be slaughtered and delivered to the hospitals as food for the patients.

Some of the birds are valued at more than $100 each.

TO PLANT 30,000 TREES

(International News Service) NEW LONDON, Conn., Mar. 3.—New London will plant 30,000 shade trees in the coming spring, and dedicate them next year as a memorial to Washington. A bank has agreed to donate 6,000 of the trees and civic organizations plan to provide funds to secure the remainder. A tree census just finished here shows 3,264 sidewalk trees in good condition and sites available for 3,707 more. Grounds of Connecticut College for Women are to be planted also this spring.

Legionnaires To Attend Banquet

Over Hundred Plan To Greet
National Commander,
March 11

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 3.—An unusually interesting meeting was held by the local American Legion last night in the legion rooms with a great many members present.

The members present went into a thorough discussion of the bonus problem being sponsored by the government. The general opinion was that they did not favor the loan plan. It was suggested that the members refrain from using the loan feature unless absolutely necessary. They will treat it as an insurance policy.

A resolution was made to give the chamber of commerce the most hearty support in its garden and lawn contest.

Final Game For High School Team

Monaca To Be Played In Lincoln Gym This Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 3.—This evening the Ellwood City high passers will don their court togs for the last time this season as they ring the curtain down in the final contest with Monaca here in the Lincoln gymnasium.

The locals hold a victory over the invaders which they obtained at Monaca sometime in December. The game was close and hard fought with the locals men managing to nose out the Monacans 24-20 in the final moments of the game.

According to advance dope the Ellwood boys are not expected to fare so well at this return encounter due to the absence of two star performers from the lineup. But the revamped team upset this "dope bucket" with Zellenople and may do so again.

Crucial Battle In League Tonight

Second Round Championship Of Shelby League Is At Stake

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 3.—With an important battle scheduled in the Shelby league also this evening local fans will probably divide their attention to either game, at the high school or the Shelby auditorium. At the latter place the championship for the second round of the league is at stake. A victory for the Office over the Hot Mills will deadlock the two teams for this coveted honor.

Of late both teams have flashed a dangerous offense which eliminated the other opponents. The Hot Mills holds a victory and are not taking any chances this time as in the first half when they were nosed out for honors. Their opponent tonight was the quintet that paved the way for the Specialty to obtain the championship for the first round. In their previous encounter the ex-high school stars of the Hot Mills decisively defeated the Office.

So it will be a pleasing spectacle to night as the Office battles for a tie and revenge and the Hot Mills to defend their position.

The Specialty and Mechanicals are the other contestants of the double header. The Specialty will try to avenge its defeat at the hands of the latter in a previous contest, this evening and thus break their long losing streak.

Down in Dixie Base Ball Notes

By Central Press
RICHARDSON SPRINGS, Cal., Mar. 3.—Bucky Harris, youthful pilot of Detroit's Tigers, was always credited with having more than an average share of baseball brains and he is proving just that in training camp here.

Realizing that the new "deader" ball is expected to keep more hits within the park Harris has his men learning to peg accurately and fast.

Daily, Tiger gardeners are spending much of their practice hours throwing, throwing, throwing from great distances and at small targets. If Harris has his way about it this season Tiger outfielders will be credited with plenty of assists.

Even in the days when Tiger offensive power was the wonder of the league the Bengals were not so good on defense. Bucky plans to change all that.

"Detroit has a good chance to break into the first division this season," Harris declared today, "but if we do our outfielders will have to use their arms as well as their heads."

"Last year," he continued, "our fielding was terrible. The gardeners threw the ball but nobody knows where. That's out now!"

Harris is expected to start the season with the two Walker brothers—Gerald and Harvey—and Frankie Doljack, all rookies. The Walkers played with the Evansville, Ind., Three-I league club last season, a Tiger farm.

Bucky has high hopes that the Walkers will come through as the Waner boys did for Pittsburgh. If they do, his garden troubles are about over.

Doljack has already proven he has a fine arm and Harris has shifted him from right field to left. That's strategy. In his new position Frank will be in a position to nip many a runner who is trying for an extra base.

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 3.—Westminster College again stands at the top of the Pittsburgh district and the Tri-State Conference colleges in basketball as a result of the Titan victory over Geneva Saturday night, giving Coach "Pops" Harrison's team 12 victories out of 13 games played with district teams.

Under "Pops" Harrison, youngest mentor in the district, Westminster defeated Grove City, Allegheny, Thiel, and Bethany, natural rivals, twice each, and also defeated Slippery Rock, Youngstown Y College, Waynesburg and Geneva. The only game lost was to Geneva at New Brighton a month ago.

One Senior-Four Juniors

The Titan squad, composed of one senior, four juniors, five sophomores, and three freshmen, holds the distinction of having defeated Bethany's wonder team on the Bison's own floor, and of swamping the Bethany team at New Wilmington by a 50-30 score. Saturday night's victory over Geneva at New Wilmington avenged the setback suffered at the hands of the Loeffler outfit earlier in the season.

Marshall Fisher, Clearfield, Pa., a guard, is the only senior on the team this year. Juniors are: Captain Phil Rice, Duquesne, guard; Bud Brownlee, Lock Haven, center; Mike Kocheran, Duquesne, forward; and Jinx Hamas, Ruthford, N. J., forward. Sophomores include: Bill Williams, Sharon, center; Gerald Newton, New Wilmington, forward; Ted Blanner, Sharon, guard; Danny Conscience, Akron, O., forward; and Mauno Siljanter, Pittsburgh, forward. The freshmen are: Bill Doulass, Indiana, forward; Church Arthur, McKeesport, center; and Al Bobby, Farrell, forward.

Brownlee Leading Scorer

Westminster ran up its greatest score against Thiel, defeating the Lutherans 62-18. Brownlee, lanky center, was the leading scorer for the season. Douglass, freshmen, and Kocheran, junior, were usually the starting forwards, but Hamas, Siljanter, Conscience, and Newton also saw action in the front court.

Winning district and conference honors this year gives Westminster a record of three conference titles and four district titles in the last six years, and boosts the total games won by the Titans to 97 out of 109. In this period, no team has defeated Westminster twice in the same season, while a number of rivals have been defeated twice each season for two or three seasons in a row.

Grove City, Allegheny, and Thiel have not defeated Westminster in the last four seasons on the court, while Duquesne, Geneva, Bethany, Wash-Jeff, and Waynesburg have been defeated at least once a season.

Coach Bridenbaugh Sends Local Passers Through Hard Drills

Special Train To Leave Pennsy Station At 5:30 Saturday Afternoon

Undeclared New Castle Cagers In Great Condition For Second Encounter

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh ordered his New Castle high school W. P. I. A. L. title seekers through a hard workout Monday at Senior high school gym in preparation for the second game of the W. P. I. A. L. tourney. The local undefeated five will send the Red and Black machine against Monessen high on Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock on the Pitt floor.

The local mentor drilled his "hopefuls" in different phases of the game. The workout was long and the cagers were glad when it was over. Coach Bridenbaugh has another hard workout on schedule for this afternoon.

The New Castle combination appeared good in the first workout of the week. The dribbling, passing, and shooting was good. A well prepared Senior high five should take the floor Saturday night.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner stated this morning that he has arranged a special train for Saturday's game. A special will leave the station of the Pennsylvania at 5:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The special will leave Pittsburgh at 10:15 o'clock. The round fare ticket costs $1.75. The admission ticket for the game is on sale and can be purchased at the Sporting Goods Store on East Washington street or at the Senior high school. The pastboard sell for fifty cents brought here, 75 cents if purchased at the stadium.

Close Race Seen In National League For Pennant This Season

Chicago, St. Louis And Brooklyn Rated Ahead In National Circuit

Athletics Look Good To Repeat—Senators And Cleveland May Cause Trouble

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—The general belief that the 1931 pennant campaign in the National League will be the closest race in the league's history is confirmed by the release of the first set of odds on the chances of the various clubs.

The figures are furnished by Tom Kearney of St. Louis, whose "dope" is highly regarded by bookmakers throughout the country. He figures the Philadelphia Athletics as odds-on favorite at 7 to 10 to continue their domination in the American League, but thinks the National League race will be a toss-up between St. Louis, Chicago and Brooklyn, with Pittsburgh and New York close behind.

Kearney's odds are as follows:
National League American League
St. Louis . . . 5-2 Phila . . . 7-10
Chicago . . . 5-2 Wash . . . 3-1
Brooklyn . . . 5-2 New York . . . 4-1
Pittsburgh . . . 3-1 Cleveland . . . 8-1
New York . . . 3-1 Detroit . . . 20-1
Phila . . . 30-1 St. Louis . . . 100-1
Boston . . . 40-1 Chicago . . . 100-1
Cincinnati . . . 50-1 Boston . . . 100-1

Same As Last Year
Kearney figures the American League clubs to finish exactly as they did last season, with a battle between Washington and New York for second place looming as the only contest in the campaign. And the Yankees, in truth, look to be no stronger than they were last season. Pippen, one of their best hurlers, probably will be out for the first part of the season, due to a recent operation.

What cost the Yanks second place last year was the fact that the Senators were able to trounce them with great regularity. If the law of averages asserts itself this season and the New Yorkers get at least an even break in their games with Washington, they may rise out of the Nationals for second place.

The Cubs, with the acquisition of three seasoned pitchers, Bob Smith, Jake May and Les Sweetland, and Brooklyn, due to the acquisition of O'Doul and Thompson, can well be installed equal favorites with the Cardinals. If the Giants can develop one more reliable right hand pitcher from their promising crop of rookies, they will be as dangerous as any club in the league.

We believe the Boston Braves should be rated ahead of the Phillies. Bill McKechnie has lost Bob Smith but his acquisition of West Schumacher and Red Worthington, rookies of great promise, who will roam the outer gardens with Wally Berger, will give him a trio of outfielders with good batting power. And the loss of O'Doul and Thompson is bound to hurt the Phillies.

Browns Will Use Rookie Material

St. Louis Browns Banking On Recruits To Come Through This Season

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—The St. Louis Browns will present a host of new faces to American league fans this season.

The Browns haven't much chance of finishing in the first division, but Manager Bill Killifer, with a wealth of youthful talent at his disposal, will be laying the foundation for a strong club in 1932.

The shakeup on the club will be most noticeable in the infield, where rookies will be started at two positions—first base and shortstop. Irving Burns, a Boston Irishman, is slated to replace Lu Blue at the initial sack and Jim Levy, formerly a member of the Quantico marines, is billed for the shortstop berth.

First reports from training camp at West Palm Beach state that Burns, who batted .356 last season for the Wichita Falls, Texas club, is living up to his reputation as a batsman. Burns, a straight-away hitter, has been wallowing blistering liners over the infield in batting practice in such a convincing manner as to make Killifer smile with satisfaction, although of course the pitchers have been doing little more than lob the ball up to the plate as yet.

The Browns believe that Levy, who also played with Wichita Falls last season, will become the club's best shortstop since the days of Johnny Lavan. Levy batted only .289 last season but scouts sent in such glowing reports on his fielding that Ralph Kress immediately was broken in at third base and the shortstop berth held open for the rookie this year. Kress looks much better at third than at short stop.

Central Press Sports Editor
Is collegiate invasion of ring to enjoy the success college men as a class attained in such sports as baseball and wrestling? The trend seems to point that way.

With a gradual retreat from an antagonistic viewpoint of an ever increasing number of large educational institutions, college boxing is enjoying a corresponding increase of interest among the undergraduates.

At many staid institutions which a decade or two regarded the ring with something akin to horror and repugnance in late years boxing has sprung into favor and is now an athletic fixture.

Such colleges and universities as Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Dartmouth, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Cornell, Maine, New York, Michigan, Ohio State, Maryland and many others have adopted the game and produced teams of well-taught boxers. The Navy has ranked high for many years with its boxing teams.

Out of this ever increasing field of intelligent young fighters is bound to come a select number who will go far, probably to the top, in professional fistfights.

Already a few collegians have tried it but with little success. Les Marriner, Sully Montgomery, Add Warren and three ex-college boys who have tried the pro game. However, they are only pioneers and their lack of success means little in looking to the future.

Training camp and A. E. F. boxing matches during the war caused the first breakdown in college resistance to the sport. College men gained in uniform their first personal contact with the ring and discovered it really was a great sport if conducted properly.

Where the sport has been tried by college co-eds have been enthusiastic spectators, the young women students early discovering that a good hard jolt on the sniffer isn't a bit more brutal or degrading a spectacle than a ball carrier being tossed backward by the ankles for a 10 yard loss on a refrigerated football field.

Thus, though boxing is still largely regarded as an exercise rather than a sport in most schools that include the sport in their athletic activities, maybe the day isn't far off when the heavyweight title may be fought between two lads aptly dubbed the Harvard Hurricane and the Michigan Mauler.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

Bob Hunting and the Diamond Brothers were not the only entertainers of years ago, who carried the name and fame of this city far and wide through the United States.

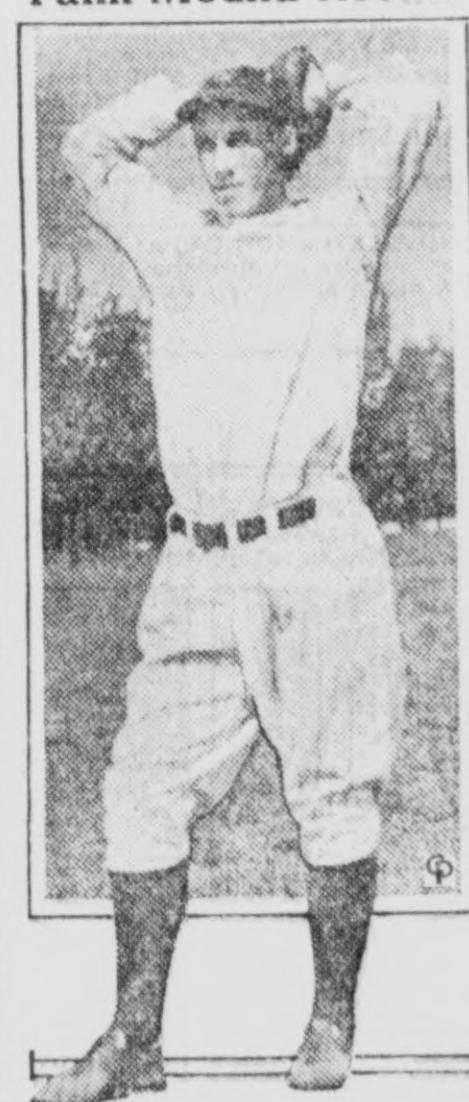

There were others, who were leaders in their lines and who made good on the stage and in other entertaining capacities. There are those who can still remember Lewis Kerr, bandmaster for the Al G. Minstrels. He played no small share in the success of the Fields show.

Then there was Topack & Horner comedy party, who had an act that went over big, especially in the larger cities of the country. Then we must not forget Lawrence Barrett, who was a native of the city and who went out from here practically unknown but became a tragedian of no mean ability, in fact as an interpreter of Shakespearean roles, he became so well known that he was associated with Booth for some time. He was also widely known in his interpretation of "Richelieu."

George Miner, 23-year-old picked up from Jersey City, is one of the New York Yankee pitching hopefuls. Miner, a right-hander, is training with the Yanks in St. Petersburg, Fla.

During the past few days the managers of several rival fighters have been here where they rendered official opinions regarding the recent Socco-Christner fight at Akron. The pilots who visited Pa. New's domain were Al Zill and Suzy Welsh.

Zill did not attempt to hide the fact that Arthur DeKuh had binged Rocco on the chin at Wichita and that this may have had its effect when the bell sounded for the Akron fight. "After he collected himself, however," said Zill "Em" flashed and in the last few rounds was making Christner hold on."

And now for Mr. Welch: "They're saying Christner is 'through' but don't you believe it. He is going as good as ever. He has five fights lined up and perhaps next summer Christner may give Rocco a second chance. Before that time comes, however, Christner will fight his way to and from the coast."

Rocco isn't going to wait until Mr. Christner fights his way to and from the coast. Instead he is coming right to his own backyard where he got started and he is going to fight Joe Sekyra, Dayton batter who is kept busy around New York, Philadelphia and other cities.

Sekyra and Rocco have fought twice. Sekyra won the first fight and Emmett won the second. They're evenly matched in weight and their height is about the same. When Rocco fought Arthur DeKuh the latter stood six feet three and weighed 218 pounds. Christner had weight and height also as an advantage.

But they are not the only heavyweights who will appear here March 16. Indeed, not. Knockout Kitten, the Akron slugger will tackle Sammy Cohen, the newest heavyweight that Cleveland is hounding about. Kitten and Cohen weigh 200 pounds. This makes about 800 pounds of fighting flesh for two bouts.

Walter West wants a second crack at Johnny Banko. "I won't be on the losing side if we fight again," he told his manager Battling Terry.

Willie Davies and Midget Wolgast will meet for the sixth time in a Pittsburgh ring tonight. It is a non-titular bout.

Sam Cohen is the product of Frankie Rio. He is said to be quite a puncher. Kitten is a corner and Cohen vs. Kitten ought to prove a real punchfest.

Wittenberg college coaches will name captains for each contest in the future. In the past the captains were named during elections.

George Lott won the singles title in the Pan-American net championship at Miami Beach by beating John Van Ryn, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, 6-4.

George Burns, former Cleveland first baseman, has taken over the management of the San Francisco Missions. He relieved Red Killefer.

George Clark, football coach at Butler college, has been named head football coach of the Portsmouth Spartans at a salary of $5,000 a season.

Annual Hospital Minstrel To Be Held Next Week

Many New Features Combined In Minstrel And Musical Comedy Show

OLD FAVORITES ARE INCLUDED IN CASTE

Announcement was made this morning by Reed D. McCullough and Jerry Hammill, in charge of the production of "The Show Bizarre", which will be presented in the interests of the Jameson Memorial hospital, that the annual minstrel and musical comedy production will be staged in the Cathedral on Thursday and Friday, March 12 and 13.

Rehearsals have been under way for some time and Messrs McCullough and Hammill, who will have complete charge, have worked hard for the success of the affair.

They will be assisted by Arch Cubison, who will direct the singing and minstrel parts; Jacques Van Ipe of the Celeste School of Dancing, the dance numbers; and B. J. Biondi, the orchestra.

The minstrel show will occupy the first part of the program, followed by the musical comedy part which will introduce many novel features never before produced here.

High Class Talent. Much high class talent has been assembled to make the musical comedy feature more attractive than ever, and in order to present the production in a limited space of time and to prevent dragging, there will be no encore numbers.

Grant Parks Whippoorwill will perform during the second part of the program, augmenting the regular orchestra.

One of the big features planned will be Steve Griffith in a song act, in which he is assisted by a chorus of 18 men, the title of which is "One the Gay Lunette".

Then Harry Hammond, premier pianist, is building a specialty piano number, which is something entirely new.

Collegians To Appear. The Phi Pi Phi quartet from Westminster college will be in the musical comedy part of the show, while the Harmony Boys, performing on stringed instruments, will also be featured. Their act includes two mandolins, a guitar and banjo.

Soloists in the minstrel show will include Glenn Evans, Charles Harris, William McCombs, Frank DeLillo and James Blaine, who will be in white face parts, while the black face end solos will be taken care of by Hayden Jones, Lew Pearsall, Joe Love and Harry Elwell.

There are 107 people in the entire cast, and a really professional organization has been assembled, which is expected to stage a finished performance.

Pedestrians accustomed to crossing streets were not surprised at all to read recently that the auto speed record had been broken.—The Jackson Citizen Patriot.

HERE'S TYPEWRITING BY RADIO!

A radio typewriter which transmits written messages through the ether has been perfected by Glenn W. Watson of Detroit. The operator merely depresses the keys, as in ordinary typewriting, and each letter is sent out into the ether as an impulse which is picked up by the receiver set, which is synchronized to the sending machine and is in turn re-typed by the receiving typewriter. Photo shows Watson, right, demonstrating his device to Fred Wardell, his backer.

Making Progress In Capping Of Big Wild Gas Gusher

Officials Report Satisfactory Progress In Capping Of Mammoth Well

(International News Service) WELLSBORO, Pa., Mar. 3.—Satisfactory progress in capping the Meeker natural gas gusher near here, which for more than a week flowed unchecked, was reported today by S. J. Brendel, president of the Penn United Company, which made the Meeker "strike."

Running of the casing, weighing forty tons, was going forward successfully with nearly a score of the casing joints, each 20 feet long, already in place.

Once the casing is in, according to experts in charge of the work, capping of the gusher by use of the "Christmas Tree," a device which gradually stems the pressure of the gas, will be a routing matter.

The Legislative committee of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Club met Saturday evening in the home of the chairman Mrs. W. T. Taylor, 310 Leasure avenue.

A letter from the Hon. J. Howard Swick, Representative in Congress was read. Dr. Swick pledged his support to the Jones-Cooper, Maternity, Infancy Bill S. 255 and H. R. 1195.

The committee discussed the Bill to be introduced in the next Congress by the Hon. Ruth Bryan Owen, Representative from Florida. The women of the Nation are watching with keenest interest the coming of this Bill, which would create a Department of HOME and CHILD. All the scattered governmental agencies dealing with education, The American Home, and its children, would be amalgamated under the bill.

Under State Legislation

The committee favored the Harris Old Age Bill, S. 22, and will study at length and report at the next meeting.

Favorable action was taken on the Bill to reduce collateral inheritance tax from 10 percent to 5 percent.

A motion was unanimously adopted, asking our Representatives in the House and Senate to vote for an increase in appropriation for the Mother's Assistance fund sufficient to clear the waiting list. The women of New Castle and Lawrence County should interest themselves in securing aid for the 2479 needy mother's in the State denied the help they are entitled to under the law because of insufficient funds. This is an urgent call from the fatherless and the widow. Shall they call in vain?

The committee is making a study of the six Proposed Amendments to the State Constitution.

A public hearing has been announced for March 3, on the proposed Election Code, the Code is House Bill 546 and Senate Bill 24. Watch the press for reports of this hearing.

Clubs are urged to present their Legislative problems to the Legislative Committee for action.

March 4 Is Named Pennsylvania Day

Pinchot Urges Exercises In State Wednesday In Honor Of William Penn

HARRISBURG, Mar. 3.—Governor Pinchot has named Wednesday, March 4, as "Pennsylvania Day" with its purpose the awakening of a "deeper appreciation of the colony William Penn founded, the commonwealth that has developed from it and the possibilities that lie ahead."

In calling upon public schools and citizens to observe the day with patriotic exercises, the governor recommends that "the programs emphasize the character of William Penn, his principles, the ideals responsible for the colony he founded, the advances the commonwealth has made, and the character of the men and women who brought about these advances."
